

KID MCCOY, BOXER, ACCUSED

At first Selby declared that Mrs. Mors had committed suicide. He said that she was unhappy because of the recent legal proceedings in which she obtained a divorce from her husband.

Mrs. Mors' body was found by her maid. The condition of the body, according to police and physicians immediately summoned to the apartment, showed that she had been severely beaten and had been shot once through the mouth. She lay sprawled on the floor. A photograph of Selby was clutched in one of her hands.

After this arrest Selby continually moaned: "She was the only woman I ever loved."

Amuck with Pistol
The first knowledge of Mrs. Mors' death was obtained by the police about the time the former pugilist emerged from the Mors Antique Shop with a revolver in his hand. The shop was one which Mrs. Mors had obtained in a property sale, which she received when she was awarded an interlocutory decree of divorce from her husband last week.

Inside the shop were the three persons McCoy, wounded when he went on a rampage there. Three others in the place told the police they had been robbed by him.

According to the story told by McCoy's victims, the shop had just been opened for the day when the pugilist entered. William C. Ross, a millionaire manufacturer and friend of Mrs. Mors, V. C. Emden, and Sam Stern, an auctioneer, were in charge.

McCoy jerked out a revolver and ordered the men to back up against a wall. He directed them to remove their clothing. He shouted his orders in an excited manner and warned those inside that he would kill any body who attempted to leave.

While the men were undressing McCoy picked up a drinking glass and buried it at Stern. The glass missed Stern and crashed into a valuable picture.

He Would "Get Even."
Six other persons entered the store while McCoy was supervising the undressing of the three men in charge and he lined them up with their hands over their heads.

Suddenly Ross darted towards the door. McCoy shot at him and he fell wounded. Then the fighter emptied his revolver, pointing it at the frightened people huddled against the wall. Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Schapp, who McCoy had telephoned to come to the store at once, were the next ones to fall wounded. Explaining why he had asked them to time was consumed in the preparation of means, it being a basket picnic and in renewing acquaintances. There were sports and amusements of various sorts and lively music to speed the time. Again the Morrisdale Boys Band came in for merited praise from the assemblage and the crowd was not backward about showing its appreciation. There was also an orchestra on hand to furnish music for dancing, a pastime which many found to their liking during the afternoon as well as in the evening when the floor was comfortably filled.

The Fraternal Oating Association is composed of the following lodges: Clearfield, Philipsburg, Coalport, Osceola and Curwensville and the committee in charge was William Cornely, Chairman, Arthur Baird, Fred Robinson, Harry Kirk, Paul Mac-

Guire, Roy Rowley, Harry Evans, O. E. Porter and two representatives from Coalport whose names we did not learn. They made a fine job of the arrangements for the outing and have the thanks of all who attended as well as those who wished to attend but were denied the pleasure.

JERRY WONDERLICH STILL INCAPACITATED

Jerry Wonderlich, automobile race driver, who was injured on June 14 in the Flag Day race at the Altoona speedway, is still suffering from the injuries received there. He is located at Hollywood, and it is necessary for him to walk with a cane. It will be months before he will be able to drive a machine. He has a sprained tendon in the right knee and the injury prevents him from controlling the gas throttle.

Funeral of Mrs. James B. Caldwell will be held from the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Green, on Turnpike Avenue, Friday afternoon at 1:30. Interment in Hillcrest cemetery.

This New Treatment Never Fails to End Piles

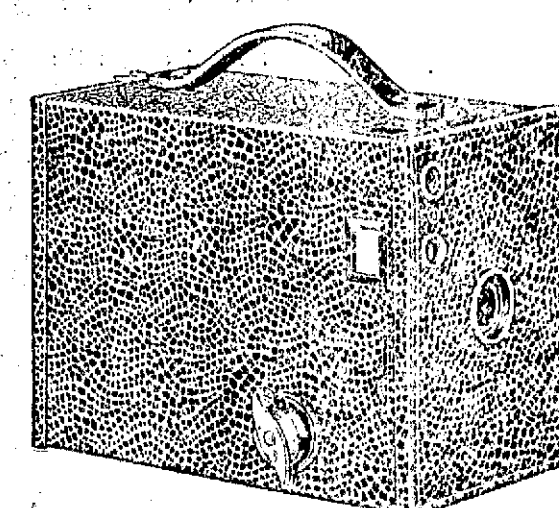

Many sufferers from piles or hemorrhoids have become despondent because they have been led to believe that their case was hopeless and that there was nothing in the world to help them.

To these people we say, "Go to your druggist and get an original box of MOAVA SUPPOSITORIES." One of these inserted into the rectum according to directions will be found to give immediate relief. They reach the source of their trouble and by their soothing, healing, antiseptic action first allay the pain and soreness and then by direct contact with the ulcers and piles cause them to heal up and disappear forever.

It is simply wonderful how speedily they act. Blessed relief often comes in one or two hours. Even in cases that have steadily resisted all known treatments, marvelous results have been obtained.

Stewart Drug Company dispenses MOAVA SUPPOSITORIES in the original box or can get it for you on short notice.

ITCHING PILES are not piles in the true sense of the word. For this condition MOAVA OINTMENT will be found all that is necessary.

To what extent the great American voter favors lawyers, as law-makers is set forth in plain figures in an article in the New Republic on "Where Statesmen Come From." In the House of Representatives there are 262 lawyers, 9 bankers, 10 farmers, 44 merchants, 13 journalists, 13 teachers, 6 doctors, 9 manufacturers, 3 dentists, 3 dealers in real estate and 2 trade union officials. There is 1 engineer, 1 army man, 1 actor, 1 minister and 1 publisher. In the Senate there are 55 lawyers, 8 farmers, 6 business men, 3 bankers, 3 journalists, 3 doctors, 3 teachers, 2 stock-brokers, 1 well-driller, 1 advertising man, 1 dentist and 1 engineer.

The honor of owning the first ton litter of pigs this year in Pennsylvania, and possibly in the United States, goes to Elias Ritter, of Snyder County, one of the five men in the country who ever owned a sow which gave birth to eight pigs weighing a ton after 180 days.

The pigs are Chester Whites, and weigh 2,106 pounds in the aggregate, averaging more than 263 pounds each. Ritter will receive a gold medal from the Keystone Ton Litter Club.

A correspondent sends us the following and asks that it be given space in this column:

Bulletin No. 354, relating to the union scale of wages and hours of labor of nearly 900,000 union members in the United States as of May 15, 1923, and showing comparison with preceding years, has recently been issued by the United States Department of Labor.

In the average for all trades taken collectively the hourly wage rate on May 15, 1923, was higher in the United States than in any preceding year, being 9 per cent higher than on May 15, 1922; 10 per cent higher than in 1917; 11 per cent higher than in 1910; and 135 per cent higher than in 1907.

In 1923 the regular hours of labor were at the same level as in 1922; 4 per cent lower than in 1917; 6 per cent lower than in 1912; 7 per cent lower than in 1910; and 8 per cent lower than in 1907.

Sixty-eight per cent of all the union members covered had a regular working week of 44 hours or less and 18 per cent had a 48 hour week; 94 per cent of the bakers had a 48 hour week or less; 97 per cent of the building trades' members had a week of 44 hours or less, as had practically all of the granite and stone workers. Among the laundry workers 95 per cent had a 48 hour week. Of the metal trade members 56 per cent had a 48 hour week and 35 per cent had a week of 44 hours or less. In the book and job printing trades 80 per cent had a working week of 44 hours or less, and 19 per cent had a 48 hour week. In the newspaper trade 53 per cent were on a 43 hour week. Twenty-nine per cent had a working week of over 44 and under 48 hours, and 18 per cent had a working week of 44 hours or less.

The average rates of wages per hour as of May 15, 1923, for the country as a whole for a few typical occupations were: Bakers, 92.1 cents; bricklayers, $1.321; building laborers, 72.5 cents; carpenters, $1.084; plasterers, $1.306; plumbers, $1.151; longshoremen, 72.2 cents; blacksmiths, 59.7 cents; machinists, 82.3 cents; newspaper compositors on day work, $1.013; and typesetting machine operators on day work, $1.031.

The average rate per hour for all building trades covered was $1.098, for the metal trades, 83.9 cents, for the newspaper printing trades, $1.047. For all trades covered in the several industries the average rate per hour was 95.2 cents. As compared with May 15, 1913, the rate of wages per hour on May 15, 1923, showed an increase of 176 per cent for bakers, 91 per cent for bricklayers, 118 per cent for building laborers; 104 per cent for carpenters; 93 per cent for plasterers; 86 per cent for plumbers; 109 per cent for longshoremen; 103 per cent for blacksmiths; 101 per cent for machinists; 78 per cent for newspaper compositors on day work; and 83 per cent for typesetting machine operators on day work.

American War Mother

MADAME SCHUMANN-HEINK, the great German musician, but greater American war mother, recently delivered a profoundly impressive address before the American Legionnaires of Cheyenne, Wyo., in which she extolled the Legion, and in a voice still suggestive of her native land, she expressed with beautiful simplicity her sentiments for this, the land of her adoption. The war mother of Schumann-Heink spoke when she said: "Just like you boys, I simply did my bit—what every mother ought to do. I love it, America, because America took me into its arms and gave me everything. I was poor when I came. America was good to me. So good to me. It made it possible for me to educate my boys. I have six boys and two girls. I have only four boys now. When the war broke out, I saw my duty, my opportunity to pay back—pay a little back—for the goodness America had been to me. I could serve these people I adore and love. I was made a better woman by the war. As long as I can I will serve the soldiers—the soldiers who were, and the soldiers now. I will serve with you any time you call."

YOUTHFUL LEGION
MAN IS HONORED

Oklahoma's youngest Legionnaire is going to West Point. Not content with claiming the honor of being the state's most youthful Legion member, Frank Hosh of Cushing, Okla., has turned twenty-one, will soon enter the United States Military Academy at West Point to become a future "Looney" or maybe a general with "bookie" stars.

At fourteen, when boys are generally wont to moon over puppy love notes from little girls in pink dresses, Hosh enlisted in the United States army to fight the Huns. Throughout the war he served as a loyal "gob," but with the signing of the armistice the young belligerent sought a more exciting field than the prosaic maritime duties on board a cruiser in times of peace. Immediately after receiving his discharge he signed up for service with the army in Siberia.

With the return of the American troops from Siberia, and with no more wars on the horizon, the two-time veteran journeyed to Cushing there to begin the hardest fight of his career—the fight to get an education and support himself at the same time. He was handicapped by the years he had lost in serving his country, but he had gained much in perseverance and the power to concentrate on an objective until it was reached. It mattered not whether that objective entailed going to school through the day and studying and working far into the night, the objective was to be reached, and so religiously did he keep his eye on it that he took double class work at the Cushing high school and finished the four-year course in two years, with honors. Then in addition, to soothe that savage fighting breast of his, he took music lessons, and is considered an excellent violinist.

With his diploma under his arm the fighting Legionnaire declared he wasn't through with the battle for education, and that West Point was his next objective. Cushing Legionnaires helped him over the rough political terrain intervening between the obscure, parentless boy of Cushing, Okla., and an appointment to West Point, to the end that before many weeks the new objective was reached and the appointment to the war college was received.

Itinerant Vendors Get
Jolt in Atlantic City

Itinerant vendors who represent themselves as ex-service men are required at Atlantic City, N. J., to obtain the endorsement of the local post of the American Legion and to have been residents of the state for at least a year before permission is granted them to peddle their wares. County Clerk Blair, who advocated the ruling, stated: "There are Legion members and ex-service men enough who are entitled to anything in the way of permits to conduct business, without wasting time with fakers who are endeavoring to capitalize on sympathy for the former soldiers. Ex-service men have been victimized on all sides through the false representation of cheats who never were in the war and have no other concern than to make money at the veterans' expense."

May Prosecute Lawyers
Charging for Service

Certain San Francisco lawyers who are alleged to have been charging fees for adding former service men in making out their adjusted compensation blanks, are threatened with exposure by Maj. A. E. Graupner, chairman of the American Legion Rehabilitation Committee of California. Several complaints have come to the state department headquarters, according to Legion officials. Major Graupner has been authorized to protect the veterans' interests and to prosecute where sufficient evidence can be secured. The federal law prohibits the charging of fees for adding ex-service men in filling out their adjusted compensation blanks.

"CLEAN 'EM UP" IS
HARRY FOX'S MOTTO

Harry Fox, face of American Legion membership campaigns in South Dakota and the Middle West, is a dry cleaner by trade.

"Clean 'em up" is his motto in business and in his Legion efforts. He is the "tiniest little mop-up" going, when it comes to getting the boys to sign up for the Legion.

If you don't believe it just take a slight peep at his record. Two hundred and eighty-five paid-up members signed up in the first four months of this year. "If there's a better record it hasn't been disclosed to date."

Harry has a selling personality. The boys just can't resist his line of talk when he opens up on them and shows them the "dotted line" for their signature.

Fox is a charter member of Harold Mason post of the American Legion at Sioux Falls, S. D.

This isn't his first attempt to sell Legion memberships, either. He is one of those fellows who keeps everlastingly at it. In 1920 he first began operations on a department store scale.

That year he signed up 80 members. The next year he came under the wire with a grand total of 100. A 25 per cent increase in just Harry's idea of a good growing business. The next year he picked up his belt a little tighter and resulted in 150 members.

Then the membership, somehow, struck a slump. Harry didn't have as much time, for it, or something. The best he could do was 125.

He was downright disappointed. He will confess it to you himself. But he was game. He merely grinned with a grin that meant business.

Harry Fox.

ness. He went out to show the rest of the gang that it was just a luke. He made up his mind to beat that record way rounder.

Did he? Well, 285 in the first four months of 1924 rather looks like it. And the year's not nearly over yet. Harry may have all of South Dakota signed up in his post before the year's over if the other fellows don't keep their eyes open.

How does he do it? It's really very simple.

He meets a prospect. He explains the work of the Legion earnestly to him. He tells him about its service to the individual and the community at large. He gets that prospect in the frame of mind where he just naturally wants to join a big organization which does things.

Mr. Veteran may not join right then. It takes a little time with some of them. But he goes away with a look on his face that shows he's got something to think about.

Does Harry quit then? Not on your life! The fun's just really getting well started.

The only time Harry sits down is when he is driving the delivery wagon for the dry-cleaning establishments of which he is part owner.

The next time he sees his man he comes right back at the old proposition.

"You would not have been outside during the war, would you?"

That's the way he greets him. And Mr. Fox follows that query up with another, equally to the point.

"Then why be on the outside now?"

Harry never says quit until Mr. Veteran has got his name down on that little card, with a face beaming with a look of deep-down-in-the-soul satisfaction that tells he's mighty glad he's done it too.

He is married. He has spent most of his life in Sioux Falls. He served with the Eighth division, the Pathfinders, at Camp Freeman, California.

These implements had been supplied the prisoners, no doubt by friends and confederates on the outside, by means of those rear windows, which every grand jury for the past eight years or more has demanded that the County Commissioners have screened.

The windows remain unscreened regardless, and it is beginning to be suspected in even the densest minds that the County Commissioners themselves suspect that some time or other they are going to get into jail themselves, and are leaving these much-used loopholes open for help from their friends from the outside.

How can this long continued neglect to take this ordinary precaution be explained any other way. In the language of Hashimura Togo, Wallace Irvin's Japanese schoolboy, "we ask to know."

Bonnell was committed to jail in May last by Alderman Bogen of Du Bois, and is awaiting trial on a fraudulent check trial. Barilebaugh was sentenced on May 24th last by Judge Chase to pay $200 fine and serve ten months in jail.

HOW TO CHOOSE
THE BEST
ELECTRIC CLEANER

The one sure way to definitely prove an Electric Cleaner is to test it thoroughly in your own home and when you test be sure to include the Royal. Test the Royal for thorough rug cleaning—you will see how it gets at the dirt that's under and in the rug, as well as surface litter. Test it for easy operation—for mechanical efficiency—note the ease of using its attachments and their versatility. You will find that the Royal has every feature that goes to make a perfect cleaner.

This test will prove to you that there is no cleaning so perfect as Royal cleaning—no Electric Cleaner that offers so much.

You cannot be sure you have the best Electric Cleaner until you have seen the Royal. We will gladly bring you one to test.

THE IRISH DEADLOCK

The British government seems to be facing another Irish crisis.

Ulster has not yet appointed commissioners to meet with the Irish Free State commissioners to settle the boundary dispute between North and South Ireland. The commission was provided for in the Anglo-Irish treaty. The Free State stands ready to fulfill its part. The British colonial secretary declares that the good faith of Great Britain is involved. In order to avoid any imputation that the Free State was tricked, the British ministry is preparing to hurry the meeting of Parliament and enact a law putting the treaty into full effect, regardless of Ulster.

There is nothing so stubborn as a North Irishman—unless it is a South Irishman. Irish troubles are interminable, mainly because of the refusal to acknowledge the first principle of free government, which is compromise.

THE CONVICTS CHANCE

Here is an impressive letter received by a newspaper the other day, in a distant city, from a man who wants to support himself and his brother:

"For God's sake find me something to do. I don't want charity. All I want is an opportunity to make a decent living. I am highly educated and possess good business training. I can push a shovel as well as a pen.

"I want to go straight, but it is tough. The old gang says, 'Come on.' The only question is, how much longer can I hold out? My age is 30; color, white; neat-appearing; no bad habits, honest and square; record for last four years, open."

His record before that is a prison record. The ex-convict makes no secret of it. He even gives his prison number.

It is an old story, all the more poignant because of its frequent repetition. It is the story of Victor Hugo's great character, Jean Valjean—the struggle of the man with a prison record to win back his place in society and industry. Many a man does go back, keeping his past a secret. Many a man, trying to redeem himself after one serious slip, finds that his own friends tell against him. Society distrusts the sinner who has paid in prison for his sin, even while it condones the offense of many an equal sinner who has managed to stay free.

And the deepest tragedy of it is that, as in this case, the "old gang" is always there, in friendly guise, saying "Come on!" It is the everlasting invitation to the time-expired convict and to the cured dope-victim. What wonder that so many fall back into the old ways!

FORBIDDING TAXES

Florida is going to vote, in November, upon an amendment to the state constitution which provides that no inheritance tax or income tax shall ever be levied by the state. The amendment was submitted to the people by the last legislature.

This is a rather remarkable proposal, in view of the recent trend of taxation. It has been considered in most states that he direct income tax was one of the fairest of all methods of raising money for public purposes, everything considered, and that the inheritance tax was desirable to prevent the accumulation of estates and their perpetuation in the same families. It has also been felt that an inheritance tax was needed to supplement the income tax, in order to prevent injustice in certain cases. For example, a piece of real estate which is rapidly increasing in value may be providing no income and therefore paying no income taxes, as would the same amount of capital invested in some other way. The inheritance tax helps to take care of such a situation.

Possibly the proposed amendment is inspired by the unpopularity of the federal income tax. Most of the states, however, feel that as long as the federal government imposes such tax—and it seems likely to continue doing so—they must do the same thing in self-defense. In fact, one of the arguments against the federal income tax in the past has been that it was encroaching on a taxation resource that really belonged to the state.

OUR EQUIPMENT

The Trust Department

The advantages of naming a financial institution instead for an individual as executor of your will are many.

Your trusted friend may lack the experience or ability to properly safeguard your estate.

The Bank's Trust Department is organized to handle such matters and is equipped to take care of them wisely.

An individual may not be able to give the time from his own business to look after the affairs of your estate.

Your friend named as executor may be swayed by sentiment.

The bank's position in such matters is always disinterested. Its only business is to see that your estate is managed according to the terms of the will.

When you make your will name as executor an institution which is in that business.

MONEY THAT WORKS

By FLORENCE DAVIES

Henry Ford remarked some time ago that he could only wear one suit of clothes at a time and that, do what he would, he was held down to wearing one pair of shoes on one pair of feet.

John D. Rockefeller found out that, too, when his money began to mount up almost beyond the counting, and both men came to about the same conclusion, though through different deductions.

Both men decided that since there was a limit to what they wanted the money to buy for them, the next best thing to do was to send that money out to work for them.

That, in fact, is just how Mr. Ford put it: "There is nothing to do with money but send it out to work again."

But so far most of Mr. Ford's money works to make more money. This has its beneficent side, for even, dollar that works helps to pay the wages of some man who has a living to earn. Money that builds steel mills and pays for railroads is doing a good job in the community. It is keeping men busy and giving the world more useful commodities.

But much of Mr. Rockefeller's money that works is working for beauty, and a good deal more is working for greater knowledge, and education. That is another kind of work, and a kind that the world needs sorely.

The million dollars of Mr. Rockefeller's money that went to work to rebuild Rheims cathedral will work for all who love beauty for many centuries to come, unless another stupid war again robs us of that treasure.

Money that lies idle, kept in an old shoe or in a strong box in the cupboard is just as wasteful as talents that lie idle.

But there are a good many things beside more money for money and talent to work for.

There is the sum of all knowledge in the world, and the sum of all beauty.

Is your money working for that?

When Henry Ford gets an extra million dollars he opens another factory or builds another steel mill. He puts his money to work, making more commodities, which make more money which helps honest working men to buy bread and shoes for their honest families. That's economically sound.

But if the world had to wait for these men to make enough and save enough to contribute each their mite to replace the roof of Rheims cathedral, or to support a scientist while he discovered the diphtheria germ, we'd go a long time with the cathedral rot in ruins, and a good many thousand babies would die of diphtheria before the cure for the deadly disease was discovered.

Henry Ford is right. There's nothing to do with money but to put it to work, nothing to do with talents and time and energy, but to put them to work. But what the they going to work for? That's the question. Just for more money, or for beauty and knowledge of finer ways of living? Even those of us who aren't billionaires have that question to settle now and then.

consumers will not pay us from 50c to $1 more per ton than they can buy it elsewhere. We are, therefore, compelled to permanently close down our high cost mines.

The conditions above recited are easily understood and as we see the matter a complete shut down of this mine is the only business like method to pursue. We expect to close not only the mines completely but the town located at this mine. We are giving you this notice and explanation in order that you can move to other places where you can secure employment.

THE END OF A SUMMER FLIRTATION

TAKE FLAG POLE DOWN

The big steel flagpole, which has graced or disgraced the "diamond" corner at Second and Market streets since the boys first started across the briny deep to get old Kaiser Bill's goat, was finally removed from the landscape by Street Commissioner Graham assisted by Supt. Diehl and a crew of Penn Public Service Company linemen.

The operation, which attracted quite a number of spectators, was performed in big time. Abe Novey, who could break even the bank of Monte Carlo, if he could get at it, rendered first aid with his acetylene torch and stalled at the "diamond" to replace quickly burned the big pole off at the base of the pole.

There was no trick at all for the skilled linemen to lower it to the ground.

When "downed" the pole was placed on a truck and hauled to the Dimehor property or American Legion home at the junction of South Second, Walnut, 1056, United Mine Workers of America, has been temporarily transferred to the general office of the United Mine Workers at Clearfield. He expects to be here for a month.

The big pole, contrary to general expectation, had not wasted a bit during its seven years service and will be good for many years to come.

A mushroom traffic light was installed at the "diamond" to replace the old one.

Mrs. Mary Shafer, wife of Jonathan Shafer, died at her home in Luthersburg yesterday morning at the advanced age of 80 years. Mrs. Shafer had been ill for a number of weeks and her end was expected by those who were near her day by day. Her husband, together with a number of grown-up children, survive her. She was the mother of Mrs. Chas. Moose, of Ridge Avenue.

Miss Ada Spencer, a daughter of James Spencer, a former resident of Bloom township, but of late years residing in Kansas City, is in this vicinity visiting with relatives and old-time friends. She reports her father as prospering in his new western home.

Rev. Dr. J. V. Adams has been granted a two-weeks vacation by the M. E. Church Board, hence there will be no regular preaching services in the Church until Sunday, August 31. Rev. Adams and family leave today on an auto trip through New York

State and also to points of interest in the northern portion of Pennsylvania.

Mr. Lilly, president of the Pennsylvania H. & L. finishing tannery plant, was a town visitor Tuesday, coming from New York on a tour of inspection.

A number of Klansmen from points down the river assembled on Tuesday evening in the Ed. Henry field below town, and held an initiatory ceremony, the drawing feature was the performing of a marriage ceremony for a young couple. There was quite a crowd from this place present, most of whom were merely spectators. Three or four ministers from the several sections of the county were there and addressed the assemblage.

A family party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Leathers, Nantuxon on Tuesday evening. A number of guests were present who enjoyed the evening hour hugely, as well as the sumptuous luncheon which was served to them before their departure for their homes.

Every day it is brought to mind forcibly that State Street is entirely too narrow to accommodate the heavy automobile traffic which is continually passing through town. Tourists by the hundred travel the street every day and sometimes it huddles them to get by and on their way on account of the many cars parked along the curb, some of them standing at one point many hours in the day before being moved to other sections. No objection can be made to the parking of cars on State Street, for an hour or two at a time, but when permitted to stand in one spot all day long, then it is all wrong and not giving others a chance. Some men drive to their place of business early in the morning, park the car, and there it remains until noontime. After lunch the same procedure is followed day in and week out. Borough ordinance does not permit it, then why is the law not enforced once in a while.

James Mineval and wife drove over to DuBois yesterday and called on friends. It was Jim's first trip over the new highway, which did not take him past the Old Wild Goose.

mobile, went direct to the Lockport bank, and entering the place with drawn guns ordered "every one hands up and keep 'em there."

Five employees and the President were herded into a corner by two of the bandits, while the others swept all money in sight into satchels.

"Better lock that mob into the vault for safe-keeping," shouted the leader of the gang as they strode toward the door.

The two who were menacing the President and the employees, then ordered them to the rear shoved the six into the vault and slammed the door, throwing the bolts.

President Carl Mulenford was the first to be pushed into the vault. Cashiers and tellers followed. The imprisoned included one woman.

The six were locked into the vault shortly after 11:30 and at 1:30 were still prisoners there.

Keep your gasoline tank well filled

How often have your sympathies gone out to some stranded motorist who, through forgetfulness or misplaced confidence in his gauge, has run out of gasoline? Maybe it has even happened to you.

"Keep your tank well filled," is the sound advice of the old-timer. It costs no more to run on a full tank than on one almost empty. Gives the car better balance too. Many motorists establish the pound-wise rule never to let the gasoline tank become less than half-empty.

A well-filled tank is of double importance in cars equipped with gravity feed systems. It assures the fluid reaching the carburetor at all times—a vital point on which many a driver who has tried to climb steep hills with a near-empty tank can testify.

It's easy to keep your tank filled without ever having to change your motor's diet, when your choice is Atlantic. For you can be sure there's always an Atlantic pump just ahead or just around the corner. And the Atlantic dealer is just as willing to serve you when the gauge says "half-full" as when it says "empty."

INDIANA GAZETTE PAYS TRIBUTE TO GEORGE D. LANICH

George D. Lanich, vice president of the Brown Boot Shop Corporation, active worker in the Merchants' Auxiliary of the Indiana, Pa., Chamber of Commerce, well-known member of the Masonic Fraternity and a prominent resident of Indiana for a number of years, passed away at the family residence on Church street at twelve-fifteen o'clock Saturday morning. He became ill Saturday morning at nine o'clock, following which he sustained a slight stroke. His condition was quite serious during the day and evening, but towards the hour of mid-night he became easier and talked with his wife and attendant nurse. Shortly after the mid-night hour he suffered a relapse, death coming with in a few minutes.

The deceased had not been in good health for several months, but his family and friends were not unduly alarmed, not thinking that his condition was serious, so that word of his sudden death came as a profound shock and a deep sense of personal loss to a host of personal associates and acquaintances.

George D. Lanich was born and raised in Clearfield, being a member of one of the well-known families of that section. Following his early education he entered the shoe business, being connected with the Brown Boot Shop almost from its inception. Twelve years ago he came to Indianapolis as manager of the corporation store here. In the reorganization process some months ago he became vice-president of the organization. He was possessed of rather a retiring disposition, but was ever at the call of his friends and associates in business and personal affairs. He took an active interest in the affairs of the borough, devoting especial work to the upbuilding of the Chamber of Commerce organization. He was a shrewd business man, thoughtful of the interests, hopes and ambitions of those in his employ, a loving husband and father and a good friend to any with whom he came in contact. He was regarded as one of the substantial citizens of the community and his absence from the family and public life of the Borough will be sincerely regretted.

The deceased was a Protestant in religious affiliation and had been a long-time and consistent member of the Presbyterian Church. He was also a member of Indiana Lodge, No. 313, Free and Accepted Masons and of the Kiwanis Club. Both of Mr. Lanich's parents are dead. He leaves his widow, Mrs. Norah Lanich and three children, the youngest of whom is but five weeks old; his step-father, C. H. Halford, and these brothers and sisters: Mrs. Thomas Watmough, of Akron, Ohio; Leslie, of Salamanca, N. Y.; Raymond, of Clearfield and Jean, Henrietta and Margaret, all at the family home on Church street.

Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock, by the pastor, the Rev. Frederick W. Hilt, D. D., minister of the First Presbyterian Church, ritualistic services by the Masonic Fraternity will precede the interment in the Massoleum in Greenwood Cemetery. (Indiana Gazette.)

Notification Committee of 63, and of informing President Coolidge of his very unanimous nomination.
The President will then deliver his address of acceptance. A comprehensive document containing approximately 6,600 words and dealing with every phase of America's foreign and domestic problems, it will take him about an hour to complete its reading.
Upon this acceptance speech the Republican campaign will be waged even more so than upon the platform adopted at Cleveland.
Its preparation has consumed nearly a month, and it represents the composite thought of scores of prominent Republicans from every section of the country, who have lent their advice and counsel.
The President and Mrs. Coolidge entertained the Notification Committee, composed of one representative of each state and territory, at luncheon today.
This affair was the only social function held in connection with the Notification ceremonies.

his employees could be sure of the compensation to which they are entitled when accidents occur.
Many states provide compulsory workmen's insurance in the state insurance fund, only the Governor explained, but Pennsylvania does not make this restriction.
"When this administration took office," he continued "there were still 80,000 employees in Pennsylvania who were not insured."
"Most of these uninsured were in small employer's plants. Many of them were financially irresponsible.
"For the purpose of securing equal justice to all workers the Pennsylvania law created a state workmen's insurance fund, but without barring out the private companies.
"I am clearly of the opinion, therefore, that in the interest of those whom the state workmen's fund was inaugurated to protect the ten per cent differential should be maintained."

Girl He Saved Is Now
Frying His Eggs And
Darning His Socks
Philadelphia, Aug. 14 (INS)—A pretty romance had its culmination here when Irwin W. Ayres, of North Carolina, after a month of trial and difficulties, claimed as his bride the girl whose life he had claimed from the waters of New London Harbor, Conn.

The girl is seventeen-year-old Mary Dennison and it all started July 4th when Irwin steamed into New London Harbor in the good yacht, "Polly" whose skipper he is. Hearing a call for help he looked and saw a young girl, who had fallen from a boat, gamely struggling to keep afloat.
He jumped in and brought her safely back to the yacht. The girl, of course, was Mary and it didn't take Irwin long to discover she was the only girl for him. Two days later Mary thought so too and they started for the altar to get married.

Fodder Hung in Trees.
In Castlere a novel method of putting fodder away for winter use is in vogue. The chief industry of the people is raising fine wool and in making this into fabric which have carried the name of the country all over the world. As in winter snow lies some five or six yards deep, supplies of hay are hung among the branches of trees, where they are easily reached by the horses.

SUNDAY NIGHT UNION MEETING
Which will be held in the Presbyterian Church. And with ever-pastor of the combining Churches having served in the preaching duty of the last five meetings, it remains for a surprise to be sprung on the Clearfield community in the person of the minister that is to preach Sunday night, August 17. Last Sunday, before the present arrangement had been effected, the notice that a possible surprise would be given, stirred up any amount of guessing which will be now more extensively indulged in. No one would imagine the plan now fixed and few could name the preacher. But the entire schedule is fully made up.
In as much as the preacher to be is not a resident of Clearfield, it will be perfectly proper to name him in the Saturday notices. Because of the marked increase of interest in meetings, this notice will arouse both curiosity and desire. At any rate, an unusually strong program is assured for next Sunday night.

The Old Maid's Prayer.
"If only I had lived before the Christian era when the years went backwards."—Tyrhans (Christiana).

Self-Control Requisite
The ability to "get along" with other people is an important essential to success. The individual is never as important as the organization. Pleasant disposition is "oil" for the machinery. Unpleasantness is sand in the gears. Practice self-control.—Grit.

New Castle—The old-timers of Lawrence county are all resting today after their eighteenth annual outing at Cascade Park celebrating Lawrence county's Old Timer's Day. A grand picnic followed by "hiders," who played races for the lancers and other figure dances of years ago.

Lloydsville—The decomposed body of Mrs. Marie Burke 74, who had lived alone near here for years was found yesterday by her son Albert. Mrs. Burke had not been seen since August 8. Neighbors became apprehensive notified Burke who found his mother's body under the mattress on her bed, the Coroner's office reported.

Jehonstown—Mayor Louis Franke has instructed City Solicitor T. K. Saylor to file protest with the Public Service Commission against the proposed increase in rates by the Johnstown Traction Company. The fare will be increased from 7 to 10 cents beginning next month, the Company announced.

Uniontown—The mine explosion at Gates, Pa. when ten miners were killed a few weeks ago was held an accident by a Coroner's jury last night. The jury verdict was that the men were killed by "an explosion due to the accidental ignition or explosives used by shot firers, starting a fire which ignited coal dust."

Altoona—John O. Houts, 38, a railroad shopman is in a hospital here today suffering from a fractured skull he was injured last Monday in an automobile accident. Last night he applied at the hospital for treatment and physicians found Houts' skull fractured. His condition is favorable.

Washington—Reading was selected as the place for the 1926 convention by the delegates of the Retail Merchants Association of Pennsylvania at the yesterday afternoon session of the 28th annual meeting, held here.

Pittsburg—William Winn, 55, fell dead from heart disease yesterday afternoon while Jack Coogan, the young movie star was entertaining his boy and girl admirers on Flagstar Hill in Schenley Park. Winn had brought Miss Marie McElroy, 13, to see the diminutive star when he dropped dead beside her.

Kittanning—Thurman Gibson, is in his cell at the Armstrong County Jail here again today after he beat Deputy Sheriff Ben Armstrong into semi-unconsciousness with a brass nozzle, and escaped. He was captured within two hours after his break for freedom.

Philadelphia, Aug. 14 (INS).—Seventeen year old Catherine Ives is believed to have suffered a broken back last night when the automobile in which she was riding turned turtle after a collision with another car at Torresdale, a suburb. Four other occupants of the cars were treated for cuts and bruises.

Harrisburg—Thelma Grossman, little passenger in the ambulance which ran down Mrs. Miles Baumgardner and killed the baby she was carrying, died at the Harrisburg hospital last night. Thelma was severely burned by a gas explosion in her home.

Domestic Storm Warning.
The following pleasant recipe for being happy, though married, was given by an old village woman to her daughter, who was married recently: "Do as you father and I did, my dear. When he comes home feeling contrary, let him wear his hat on the back of his head, and that were a sign. And then I never said a word. And whenever I felt cross or provoked, I threw my shawl over my left shoulder, and then he never dared say a word."

Eulogy of the Dead
The custom of funeral sermons, together with various other rites in connection with the burials may be traced back to antiquity. Even the primitive peoples had certain ceremonies in connection with the burial of their dead. In ancient Greece and Rome the custom of eulogizing the dead was popular.

Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—Happy Results
Newcastle, Pa.—"I was all run-down and everything I thought I was going into a decline. I had been ailing for 2 years with pains in my right side so that I could hardly stand on my feet. When I walked I felt as if something was falling. I was not able to do any work and had a nurse most of the time. She spoke to me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, so I gave it a fair trial. Some women think one bottle should cure them, but I didn't stop at that. I took more and got better, and am able ever since to do my own housework. There was a time when I would complain of 'not feeling well' but my husband would say, 'Go to the doctor.' But now he will tell me to get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's, and it has always helped me. I have had druggists tell me that they knew something better, but they don't tell me that now. I take no other medicine. I have been taking the Vegetable Compound for five years. 80th Division

ation, Brigadier General Lloyd M. Brett, U. S. A. Retired, former commander of the 160th Infantry Brigade, 80th Division and the present Commander-in-Chief of the Veterans of the Foreign Wars of the United States, Major General C. S. Farnsworth, Brigadier General G. H. Jamerson, Col. Chas. Keller, Col. Frank Cochran, Commander of the Third Corps Area and former Commander of the 19th Infantry Regiment, Col. Brian H. Wells, Col. A. E. Hunt, Brigadier General G. G. Helzer, Col. Chas. D. Heron and many others.

The 80th Division was composed of drafted men originally from the States of Pennsylvania, Virginia and West Virginia for a large part. It trained at Camp Lee, Virginia, and sailed for overseas in May, 1918, immediately being sent into active service with the British Army on the Arras Front. It was later engaged in the St. Mihiel Offensive and served throughout the Meuse-Argonne Offensive with special distinction, being the only division in the American Expeditionary Forces, called upon for duty three times in this offensive. Its 153rd Field Artillery Brigade composed of West Virginia Troops, served unrelieved throughout the Argonne Offensive, supporting three other divisions in addition to the 80th, and was one of the very few National Artillery units which completed its training in time to actively engage in line of duty. The 80th Division had 6,172 casualties and the replacements who filled up its ranks came from practically every State in the Union.

The 80th Division Veterans Association was formed in France in March, 1919, and has maintained a permanent National Headquarters in Pittsburgh since August 1919, assisting thousands of the men of the division in their problems of adjusting themselves once more to civil life, and keeping liaison with their comrades of "The Great Adventure."

Pan-American Marimba Band

PAN-AMERICAN MARIMBA BAND

Native Guatemalan Musicians with Record of Exceptional Metropolitan Triumphs

A novelty in the musical entertainment line will be the appearance at Chautauqua of the Pan-American Marimba Band, an organization of Guatemalan musicians who perform with great skill and artistry on their native instrument.

The Pan-American Marimba Band was organized and brought to this country from Guatemala by Mr. M. N. Mato. The American House, Boston, was the first engagement filled by this band. The success of the organization in Boston was so great that the band was recalled and was held for five consecutive seasons. The band was next engaged to play at the United States Hotel Saratoga Springs, N. Y., where it remained for two seasons. The following season was spent at the Shelburne Hotel, Atlantic City. The Pan-American Band has also appeared with great success on several of their popular numbers have been recorded by the Columbia Phonograph Company.

The totally different, fascinating and quaint music of the Marimba originated in Central America among the ancient Indian Tribes. The first Marimbas were built and used long before the arrival of the Spaniards. The Indians built their instruments in a very primitive manner using dry gourds as resonators and a single keyboard of rosewood. Although the Marimba was first built in Central America, exact reproductions of the original instruments may be found today among the savages of South Africa. It has developed into a wonderful instrument since those ancient days and produces such rare music that the Marimba Band has been in constant demand in Eastern Theatres and musical centers since its first phenomenal success in Boston. The Swarthmore Chautauqua management feels particularly fortunate in having secured this remarkable organization for the opening number of the week's program.

Weddings

NICHOLSON-RICHARDSON

This morning, in Trinity Methodist church, the pastor, Rev. Horace Lincoln Jacobs, married with the ring ceremony Thomas Lee Nicholson and Mary Emma Richards, both of Grampian Penna. In the party were parents and friends. Immediately after the ceremony the wedding party returned to Grampian where other friends awaited their coming.

GEARHARTVILLE PAIR

WEDDED 64 YEARS

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Nicholson of Gearhartville, motored to Winborne, Tuesday, Aug. 12th to the home of their granddaughter, Mrs. John Phoenix and celebrated their sixty-fourth wedding anniversary.

The day was greatly enjoyed as they met quite a number of old friends and neighbors.

Mr. and Mrs. Nicholson are both quite active considering their advanced age. The former was 86 on June 4th and the latter 84 on May 19th.

The occasion also marked the ninth anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Phoenix.

Mrs. Phoenix served a well prepared dinner, which was enjoyed by all. At a seasonable hour, all departed, wishing both couples many more such happy occasions.

MAN RESPONSIBLE FOR FOREST FIRES IN EVERY INSTANCE

Harrisburg, Aug. 14, (INS)—

Man is responsible for practically all the forest fires that occur in Pennsylvania, a bulletin issued by the Department of Forest and Waters shows.

During the past six years only 49 forest fires were caused by lightning out of the total of 13,759 fires. Railroads were responsible for 34 per cent of the fires during the last six years, and caused almost 40 per cent of the 1923 fires. Transients, which means campers, hunters and fishermen, are responsible for almost one-fifth of the total number. While there are still a considerable number of fires the cause of which is unknown, yet the percentage of unknown fires has been decreasing rapidly during the last two years due to the extension of the forest fire protective system and the development of a more efficient fire-fighting organization.

AGED LADY PASSED AWAY

Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Shafer, wife of Jonathan Shafer, of Luthersburg, died last evening at her home at 9:10 p. m. In her death Luthersburg loses one of its oldest and best residents.

Mrs. Shafer's maiden name was Mary Elizabeth Horn. She was born in Brady township, four miles North of Luthersburg, May 25th, 1845, and was aged 79 years, 2 months and 18 days.

She is survived by one sister, Mrs. John Simons, of Gretna, Nebraska, and five brothers: D. L. Horn, of Dedrick, Mo.; Edward Horn, of Canada, Milton, of Wyoming; and Robert and Irvin, of DuBois, Pa.

On August 18th, 1864, Mary Elizabeth Horn was united in marriage to Jonathan Shafer, of Luthersburg, who survives her. To this union were born eleven children, five girls and six boys, of whom all are still living, namely: Mrs. G. B. Wachob, Alva A. Shafer, E. E. Shafer, and Mrs. L. B. Draucker, of Luthersburg; Reuben C. Shafer, of Sherman, N. Y.; Mrs. T. L. Way, of Curwensville; Mrs. C. W. Moore, of Curwensville; G. V. Shafer, of DuBois; D. L. Shafer, of DuBois; Mrs. J. P. N. N. of DuBois; H. Q. Shafer, of Sykesville; also 27 grandchildren and 22 great-grandchildren.

If Mrs. Shafer had lived until August 15th, they would have celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary.

Mrs. Shafer spent her whole life in and near Luthersburg. She was a religious and a good woman in every sense of the word. She was a life-long member of the M. E. Church of Luthersburg. Her death marks the passing of another one of those old-fashioned, thoroughly lovable, motherly women, whom everybody loved.

The funeral will take place at 2:00 p. m. Friday. Services at the M. E. Church, interment in the family plot at Luthersburg Cemetery.

Foolish Ambition

It is an indiscreet and troublesome ambition that makes so much about fame; about what the world says of us; to be always looking in the faces of others for approval; to be always anxious about the effect of what we do or say; to be always shouting to hear the echoes of our own voices.—Longfellow.

Lieut. Lowell Smith and Lieut. Erik Nelson, United States Army "round the world aviators," were unable to depart for Greenland today because of ice conditions.

"We hope to hop off for Angmagalik tomorrow morning if it is at all possible," Lieut. Smith told International News Service.

"The last word from Lieut. Scholz, advance flight officer on the Raleigh, is that it is possible to land at Angmagalik amid the ice but it is impossible to hop off. He is advising us to wait for favorable word from him, I will follow his advice to a certain extent."

The Richmond is preparing to leave for Greenland.

Says Ordinary Buttermilk Best For Freckles, Sunburn and Tan

Adopters Old Time Recipe of Buttermilk Cream in a New Way—A Gentle Massage with Fingers Before Retiring Is All that is Necessary

Buttermilk and Cream—S'mole Remedies Best—Keeps Face, Hands, and Arms in Exquisite Condition—Soft, Smooth and Beautiful

The old time application of Buttermilk and Cream to whiten and preserve the skin and remove harsh little wrinkles and ugly sallowness is grandmother's recipe and women throughout the country are again using it to ensure a beautiful complexion and snow-white hands and arms. Buttermilk, however, is not always obtainable, but a specialist has at last perfected a method of concentrating buttermilk and combining it with a perfect cream, which you can buy in small quantities ready to use at any first class drug store by simply asking for "Howard's Buttermilk Cream."

There is no secret about it nor is there any doubt about the result—it's just a common ordinary buttermilk in the form of a wonderful cream. That's all. Howard's Buttermilk Cream gently massaged with the finger tips around the corners of the eyes and mouth. To get the best, first be sure to follow the simple directions. Druggists guarantee a noticeable improvement after the first application or they will refund the money.

G. A. R. MEETS AT PHILIPSBURG

Invitations are ready to be issued to the Clearfield and Center County Veterans Associations to be present at a reunion to be held at Philipsburg on Thursday, Sept. 4, 1924. The most elaborate preparations are being made to make the day the greatest; the organization has ever enjoyed. All veterans and their wives and widows of veterans are to be invited. Chenille Crepe are working on the plans for the event. The dinner will be prepared and served by the ladies of Sheridan Circuit No. 45 in the dining room of Christ's church. This is expected to be the most enjoyable reunion the organization has ever held.

MATERIALS for the coming season are so decorative and so rich looking that they need only to be handled with skill to make the most stunning gowns. This one is of chenille crepe with a shirred panel of plain satin the same color, edged with fur for relief. The long smock blouse effect is bordered with satin and the under tunic is of the same. This makes an exceptionally attractive outfit for afternoon tea or dinner and yet it may be worn at any hour of the day, and not be inappropriate.

THORN BROS.

Symbols Had Meaning.
The shoes and sandals of the Greeks, Romans, Egyptians and Jews were ornamented with horns, crescents and other representations of the moon. At marriage ceremonies the custom of casting the shoe was combined with the throwing of flowers and various kinds of grain. These symbols and offerings seem to indicate the propitiation of a god, probably the deity who presided over productivity.

Real Sea Monster.
According to scientists of the Smithsonian Institute the record fish was captured at Miami, Fla., after a 1000 mile journey. It weighed 1,700 pounds and measured 30,000 pounds. Its liver was a whole shark. 150 bottles were required to rub the monster. It was a whole shark.

NUMBER 191

NIAGARA FALLS IS
SCENE OF BOMBING OF BIG CHURCH

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Aug. 14 (INS).—The First Baptist Church, whose pastor, Rev. A. B. Mercer, has been engaged in a vigorous anti-vice campaign was mysteriously dynamited and badly damaged early today.

In some quarters it is suspected the dynamiting was done or instigated by members of the underworld.

Every window in the church was shattered. Plaster was ripped from the walls and windows and doors wrecked. The foundation, however, withstood the blast.

The entire neighborhood was rocked. In the Y. M. C. A. building across the street every window was smashed. Windows in nearby residences were broken.

Several persons were thrown out of their beds. The blast occurred shortly before 3 o'clock.

Several fragments of crude, homemade bomb were found by police. The explosive had apparently been placed in the top landing of the steps to the entrance of the church.

Rev. Mr. Mercer, who is president of the Niagara Council of Churches had conducted a vigorous campaign to clean up vice in Niagara Falls all summer. With the assistance of other churches he had forced police to close many places of questionable repute and had been threatening of harm to the council in the Council.

Harrowing Tales Told
By Survivors Of Latest
Chinese Flood Disaster

Peking, Aug. 14 (INS).—Thousands of refugees from the Chinese provinces of Szechwan and Kweichow are pouring into Peking with harrowing tales of suffering and death.

The widespread devastation in North China, but in other parts of the country, is running low and it is estimated that 10,000,000 people are suffering from famine.

The American embassy has made a request to the Chinese government for assistance. It is hoped that the American government will lend assistance.

It is estimated that 50,000 people are suffering from the disaster and millions are in danger.

According to Government officials, the disaster is the worst in the history of China. The provinces of Szechwan, Hunan and Honan are the worst affected.

KID MCCOY, FAMOUS
BOXER OF OLD DAYS,
ACCUSED OF MURDER

New York, Aug. 13.—Temporary Judge S. B. Egan, in the trial of the famous boxer Kid McCoy, today accused him of the murder of Mrs. M. J. Mors.

McCoy, who was known in the ring as "Kid McCoy," ran away with Mrs. Mors, who was shot and killed by a "protector," he told the jury.

The former wife of Albert Mors, a mill manufacturer in New York, was found dead in her apartment, where she was known as "M. J. Mors."

S. B. Egan, who admitted that he had killed Mrs. Mors, but said that he did not know why, described the murder.

The former pugilist then went on to describe the murder of another woman and two men while he was engaged in robbing six customers in an antique store owned by Mrs. Mors.

McCoy is held on a technical charge of suspicion of murder. Later, police say, this will be withdrawn and a formal indictment charging him with murdering Mrs. Mors, will be drawn up and presented in court.

The former welterweight champion seems dazed and bewildered. First he declares that he shot Mrs. Mors, and then he says he did not.

Common reporting had it that McCoy was planning to make Mrs. Mors his tenth wife.

Shortly after Mrs. Mors' body was found McCoy was seen running through West Lake Park, near her apartment, with a smoking revolver in his hand, police say, and that he shouted "curses" at persons who recognized him and tried to stop and question him.

RADIO FANS AWAIT
COOLIDGE SPEECH OF ACCEPTANCE

By GEORGE E. DURNO
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent.
Washington, Aug. 14.—President Coolidge will formally accept the titular leadership of the Republican party tonight.

In the presence of the leaders of his party, he will receive the Republican Presidential nomination and lay down the issues upon which he will wage his fight for continuance in office.

He will outline the achievements of the Harding-Coolidge administration and ask for the retention of Republican Government.

Twenty-five million people—by far the largest audience ever addressed by one individual—will hear the President's speech through the medium of the radio. William M. Butler, Chairman of the Republican National Committee has completed arrangements for the linking up of twelve great broadcasting stations stretching clear to the Rocky Mountains in such fashion as to permit all who desire to "listen in."

Staged in the beautiful Continental Memorial Hall where the Arms Conference met, the setting will be abundant with floral decorations and the added atmosphere of the dress uniforms of the Presidential Aids and high ranking officers of the Army and Navy.

Approximately 2,000—numbering various chairmen, and members of the National Committee—actually will be within the Hall. Outside huge amplifiers will carry the speech to the thousands unable to gain admittance.

Immediately following the invocation, delivered by the Rev. Jason Noble Pierce, the President's minister, Frank W. Mondell, will take the platform. As presiding officer of the Cleveland Convention, he has been charged with the honor of heading the parade.

BRUSH UP ON YOUR MARCHING

The American Legion Band Concert at the Driving Park tonight will be the last free concert until after Greensburg Convention.

Members of the Legion who expect to go to Greensburg should report at the park tonight at 7 o'clock for the purpose of "brushing up" a little on marching formation.

If Clearfield expects to carry off the parade prize at Greensburg we must have some preliminary training. Let everybody expecting to be in the lineup at Greensburg turn out at the Park this evening at 7 o'clock.

P. O. S. of A. Expells
Hon. William S. Vare
Because of Speech

Philadelphia, Aug. 14 (INS).—Congressman William S. Vare, noted political leader here, has been expelled from the local branch of the Patriotic Order Sons of America as the result of a controversy that started when the new Immigration Bill was before Congress last spring.

Officials of the order charge Vare said in substance that "foreign" born make better citizens than native born" in a speech he inserted in the Congressional record, opposing the Immigration bill. They declare the speech insulted native-born Americans and constituted a violation of Vare's oath to uphold the order's principle of "America for Americans."

The Congressman is in Europe.

Pinchot Rules Against Changing Differential
In Compensation Rates

Harrisburg, Pa., Aug. 14 (INS).—Denying that the state workmen's insurance fund is an invasion by the State of the legitimate field of private insurance companies, Gov. Pinchot today refused to abolish the ten per cent differential phase of the fund.

This differential—which provides workmen's compensation insurance ten per cent below the rates fixed by law for commercial companies—is not a discrimination in favor of the State fund, the governor declared, but serves to balance in part certain advantages in cost of operation which would weigh against the fund.

These handicaps are that the State cannot hire agents to secure insurance; that it cannot reject any risks; and that it can write only compensation insurance.

"The State workmen's insurance fund," Governor Pinchot asserted, "was founded in order to make certain that every employer could, without fail, secure insurance and that

Illinois Bandits Lock
Seven In Bank Vault;
Problem To Open It

Lockport, Ill., August 14 (INS).—A band of bank robbers stormed the Lockport state bank here today, locked seven employees, including the President, in the big vault and escaped with $20,000 in loot.

The sheriff and police hastily gathered a posse swore the members in as deputies and pursued the robbers who fled toward Chicago.

Nearly an hour after the robbery the seven persons were still locked in the bank vault. It was feared acetylene torches would have to be used to open the huge doors.

There were seven robbers in the gang. They drove into town shortly before noon in a high-powered automobile.

MINES AT ADRIAN,
ELEANORA AND HELVETIA CLOSE

"An Impossible Wage Scale" Reason Given by Company in Closing For At Least 2 Years.

TOWNS TO CLOSE

The Rochester and Pittsburgh Coal and Iron Company has mailed notification to employees at Adrian, Helvetia and Eleanora stating that the mines owned by the company at those places will be closed for "probably two years" due, says the notification, "to an impossible wage scale basis."

B. M. Clark, president of the company, stated this morning that the Helvetia, Eleanora and Adrian mines are among the oldest and largest mines operated by the company. This fact, he says, makes the overhead expense in the operation of these mines many times greater than that of the mines opened within recent years.

Not only are the mines to be closed but the towns themselves, which means that the company stores and other company enterprises in the various towns will shut up shop. Employees are advised to seek employment elsewhere.

The three mines involved are among the oldest operations in this section. All have been in operation 25 years or more and have been among the heaviest producing mines of the company. Considerable coal remains in each of the three sections and permanent abandonment is not considered, it is said.

Mr. Clark stated this morning that the company had not yet decided whether or not the pumps at the three mines would "be pulled," although, he stated, this would probably be done.

The policy adopted by the company will affect approximately 3,000 miners employed at the mines during normal production.

The announcement will probably mean a general exodus from the three towns, all of which are among the largest mining towns in this section.

The following is a copy of the notification sent to the Adrian mines (notice to the company employees at Helvetia and Eleanora is the same).

Indiana, Pa., August 11, 1924
To Former Employees

Eleanora, Pa.

We are sorry to announce that Adrian Mines will not resume work for probably two years. We feel that you are entitled to know the real conditions in order that you may seek other employment.

Explanation is short. We are on an impossible wage scale basis. The vast tonnage coming into our markets and competing with our coal is sold at from 50c to $1 per ton less than it costs us to produce it. We cannot compete with the non-union mines; therefore have no business. When we have no orders you have no work. We are mutually affected.

After a careful investigation and study of the coal market conditions we have reached the conclusion that the non-union fields can and will for several years to come be able to furnish practically all of the coal that the country demands and that the

GERMANY AGREES TO FRENCH TERMS
ON EVACUATION

London, Aug. 14 (INS).—After a day of intensive conferences during which the Allied Reparations Conference seemed on the verge of collapse the German delegation late this afternoon announced its intention of accepting the French proposals for evacuation of the Ruhr.

"We are disappointedly going to accept the French proposals tonight," the German announcement said.

The French proposals give France and Belgium a year to withdraw their troops from the Ruhr although they may be withdrawn sooner if Paris and Brussels deem it expedient.

MUSIC CLUB EVENT
AT GRAHAM HOME
A HAPPY AFFAIR

The Music Club is to be congratulated on the musical given at the home of Miss Maude Graham, West Market street on Monday evening. It was the most delightful musical event ever given in Clearfield. Not only was the program wonderful, showing the remarkable talent which we have in our town, but the setting was perfect.

The spacious Graham home was beautifully decorated throughout for the occasion. The large connecting rooms and enclosed porch made it an ideal auditorium which was completely filled by the music lovers of Clearfield.

The quartette composed of J. Emmett Harder, Walter Kennard, Kenneth Thorn and Elsie Davis with Mrs. J. M. Gallaher as accompanist was fine. Their voices blended perfectly.

The baritone solo by Victor Merideth with Mrs. Henry Rhine accompanying was great.

Josephine McMurray varied the programme by the most attractive recitations, some of which were to piano accompaniment. Her recitations were humorous.

Mary Mitchell was at her very best and sang songs after songs, many of which were composed by Powell Weaver, as the audience became more and more insistent. She had the benefit of Powell Weaver's wonderful accompaniment.

The trio by Mrs. Henry Rhine, piano Bessie Baker, cello and Eugenia Mitchell violin, was very beautiful.

H. P. Bridge is an artist on the cornet and his playing put the finishing touch to a well balanced program.

The Club were very fortunate in having Powell Weaver and Major Gano here. Mr. Weaver is one of the leading organists of the world and Major Gano's voice is marvelous. The two of them with Mary Mitchell are a concert by themselves. They generously played and sang and thoroughly enjoyed themselves as well as delighted a most enthusiastic audience.

They have three accompanists of the quality of Mrs. Rhine, Mrs. Gallaher and Powell Weaver is enough to make a success of any concert for after all they can make or mar any selection.

The Musical Club are elated and feel that their mission to cultivate their own talent and uplift the musical tone of the town is being accomplished.

Mrs. George Barnes, daughter Josephine and mother Mrs. Hoyt, of Phillipsburg, spent Wednesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Pink on Locust Street. Mr. Barnes and Miss Hoyt always a feature of Elks gatherings, drove out after them in the evening.

"Bad Men Took Me"
Says Child Found
After Two Day Hunt

Uniontown, Pa., Aug. 13.—"Two bad men took me away," Mary Katherine Mitchell, 4 years old, missing for nearly 50 hours in the mountains at Foxburg, Md., last night told her parents. Mr. and Mrs. James W. Mitchell of this place, after she had been brought home.

As a result of the girl's remark renewed efforts are being made to apprehend two men reported to have been seen with her with an automobile. Physicians who examined the girl, said she could not have lived in the open during all the time she was lost, had she not been given shelter for a time by some person or persons.

80th Division Veterans
To Reune At Pittsburgh
Week of August 27-31

Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 14.—Over ten thousand veterans of the 80th (Blue Ridge) Division, A. E. F., will gather in Pittsburgh during the week of August 27th to 31st, 1924, on the occasion of the fifth national reunion of this famous National Army division, since it was demobilized in 1919. Reductions on all railroads of fare and one-half for the round trip will apply and National Headquarters of the Division Association at 515 Reservoir Building, Pittsburgh, Pa., is daily receiving hundreds of requests for the identification form necessary to secure the reduced rate. Special low prices will also be effective for the visitors in the hotels and committees are working on plans for the entertainment of the veterans and their relatives during the five days of the convention.

It is expected that many of the Blue-Riders in Virginia, West Virginia, Eastern Pennsylvania, New York and Ohio will travel to the convention by auto, and the city's newly equipped tourist camp in Schenley Park will appeal to many, it having been provided with many conveniences for campers, including a swimming pool, etc., and is located in this large natural park in the heart of the city. Twenty-five thousand invitations have been sent to the membership of the division for whom up-to-date addresses are on file, and it is anticipated that the attendance will exceed that of previous reunions, which were very successful.

The first being held in Richmond, Virginia, the second in Pittsburgh, the third in Norfolk, Va., and the fourth in Norfolk, Virginia. The program includes sight-seeing trips, horse racing, base-ball, games, sports, receptions, banquets, parades, dances, boat trips, picnics, etc., and closes with memorial services to the dead of the division.

Among the members of the division who will be present are: Major General Adelbert Cronkhite, U. S. A. Retired, war-time commander of the 80th and President of the Veterans Association.

Arensberg, Pennsylvania
Veteran, Elected Head of Grand Army of Republic

Boston, Aug. 14 (INS).—Louis F. Arensberg of Amesbury, Pa., today was elected Commander-in-Chief of the Grand Army of the Republic. He was Past Department Commander of Pennsylvania.

John B. Inman, of Illinois, who was favorite for the post before the balloting, withdrew after the first ballot, Arensberg, elected on the second ballot, received 363 votes. E. C. Hawk of California, received 312 votes. On Hawk's motion the election of Arensberg was unanimous.

Grand Rapids, Mich., was decided upon as the meeting place for the next encampment.

Annual Day Of Outing

An event that is looked forward to eagerly by the families of Free Masons in this vicinity is the annual outing under the auspices of the Fraternal Outing Association. This year it was held at the Lakeside Park at Morrisdale and the day was yesterday. As early as nine o'clock yesterday morning, the wearers of the lambskin and their guests began arriving and by evening the man who kept count of those arriving and the shakels rolling in at the reception booth stated there were 294 Masons registered and a few more than 1300 in attendance. There was not a dull moment during the whole day. Much

BAND CONCERT AND DANCE AT THE PARK
THIS EVENING WILL BE WORTH GOING TO

Two especially pleasing numbers have been selected by Prof. Thayer for the band concert at the Park this evening by the American Legion Band. "Maritana" is the first one and, while it has been played before, it is one of those numbers which always holds its charm and always pleases the lover of band music. "Golden Showers" it has another long French or Italian name, is a set of waltzes which will be delightful to listen to, from the catchy introduction to the finale.

Following the concert the Legion will give their regular Thursday night dance with the Keystone orchestra furnishing the music. This will be the last Thursday night dance given by the Legion for which the proceeds will be used to send the band to Greensburg. Whether or not you like to dance, help advertise the local Post and the city generally by making the way easier for the Post to take the boys to Greensburg. This is going to cost about $1500 and everyone should put their shoulder to the wheel for the general advertising the city gets from a trip such as this.

WARDEN M'CLURE
FINDS TWO DIGGING
WAY OUT OF JAIL

Accidental Dropping of Iron Bar During Night
By One Man Awakes
Vigilant Warden.

HAD SECURED HELP

Warden Billy McClure's keen left ear was responsible for the frustration of an attempted jail delivery on Thursday night last. Warden McClure and his wife were in their bed room about to retire when the Warden's keen ear detected a suspicious sound from the interior of the jail.

Mr. and Mrs. McClure immediately began an investigation, which resulted after a careful examination of the jail in the finding where two of the prisoners had been hard at work for some time in an attempt to dig out.

The prisoners were Am E. Bonnell, of DuBois, and Albert Barthelme, of Glen Campbell. The men had been working for some time in the attempt to quarry the stone out of the wall around the window of their cell which is the second cell from the east.

The jail on the north side of the city had already made a sizable hole and had they not been discovered and have been able to make their getaway by the end of the week at the latest.

They had secured an iron bar about eighteen inches in length and were digging the plaster from around the stones with this implement.

The window is located high up in the cell and as they dug the plaster or mortar from the wall they would catch it and break it up fine and deposit it in the commode in their cell and then flush it out into the sewer.

They did their work after the prisoners had been locked up for the night. They wrenched their cot loose from the wall and leaning it up against the wall were enabled to reach the window while standing on one of the iron cross rods of the cot.

While at work Tuesday night the iron bar slipped from the hands the man at work on top of the cot and fell to the concrete floor of the cell. It was the rattle of the steel on the concrete which caught the ear of the vigilant warden and his wife.

While quietly surveying the interior of the prison from the peephole located in the warden's bedroom for just such emergency a trusty on the inside flashed a signal to the warden denoting the cell from which the sound came and going at once to the cell Warden McClure found not only the bar but the place where the men had been working.

Bonnell and Barthelme were placed in another cell and when a thorough search of the old cell was made yesterday a saw, several nails and another small bar was found.

KID MCCOY, BOXER, ACCUSED

At first Selby declared that Mrs. Mors had committed suicide. He said that she was unhappy because of the recent legal proceedings in which she obtained a divorce from her husband.

Mrs. Mors' body was found by her maid. The condition of the body, according to police and physicians immediately summoned to the apartment, showed that she had been severely beaten and had been shot once through the mouth. She lay sprawled on the floor. A photograph of Selby was clutched in one of her hands.

After this arrest Selby continually moaned: "She was the only woman I ever loved."

Amuck with Pistol
The first knowledge of Mrs. Mors' death was obtained by the police about the time the former pugilist emerged from the Mors Antique Shop with a revolver in his hand. The shop was one which Mrs. Mors had obtained in a property sale. She was awarded an interlocutory decree of divorce from her husband last week. Inside the shop were the three persons McCoy, wounded when he went on a rampage there. Three others in the place told the police they had been robbed by him.

According to the story told by McCoy's victims, the shop had just been opened for the day when the pugilist entered. William C. Ross, a millionaire manufacturer and friend of Mrs. Mors, V. C. Emden, and Sam Stern, an auctioneer, were in charge.

McCoy jerked out a revolver and ordered the men to back up against a wall. He directed them to remove their clothing. He shouted his orders in an excited manner and warned those inside that he would kill any body who attempted to leave.

While the men were undressing McCoy picked up a drinking glass and buried it at Stern. The glass missed Stern and crashed into a valuable picture.

He Would "Get Even."
Six other persons entered the store while McCoy was supervising the undressing of the three men in charge and he lined them up with their hands over their heads.

Suddenly Ross darted towards the door. McCoy shot at him and he fell wounded. Then the fighter emptied his revolver, pointing it at the frightened people huddled against the wall. Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Schapp, who McCoy had telephoned to come to the store at once, were the next ones to fall wounded. Explaining why he had asked them to time was consumed in the preparation of means, it being a basket picnic and in renewing acquaintances. There were sports and amusements of various sorts and lively music to speed the time. Again the Morrisdale Boys Band came in for merited praise from the assemblage and the crowd was not backward about showing its appreciation. There was also an orchestra on hand to furnish music for dancing, a pastime which many found to their liking during the afternoon as well as in the evening when the floor was comfortably filled.

The Fraternal Oating Association is composed of the following lodges: Clearfield, Philipsburg, Coalport, Osceola and Curwensville and the committee in charge was William Cornely, Chairman, Arthur Baird, Fred Robinson, Harry Kirk, Paul Mac-

Guire, Roy Rowley, Harry Evans, O. E. Porter and two representatives from Coalport whose names we did not learn. They made a fine job of the arrangements for the outing and have the thanks of all who attended as well as those who wished to attend but were denied the pleasure.

JERRY WONDERLICH STILL INCAPACITED

Jerry Wonderlich, automobile race driver, who was injured on June 14 in the Flag Day race at the Altoona speedway, is still suffering from the injuries received there. He is located at Hollywood, and it is necessary for him to walk with a cane. It will be months before he will be able to drive a machine. He has a sprained tendon in the right knee and the injury prevents him from controlling the gas throttle.

Funeral of Mrs. James B. Caldwell will be held from the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Green, on Turnpike Avenue, Friday afternoon at 1:30. Interment in Hillcrest cemetery.

This New Treatment Never Fails to End Piles

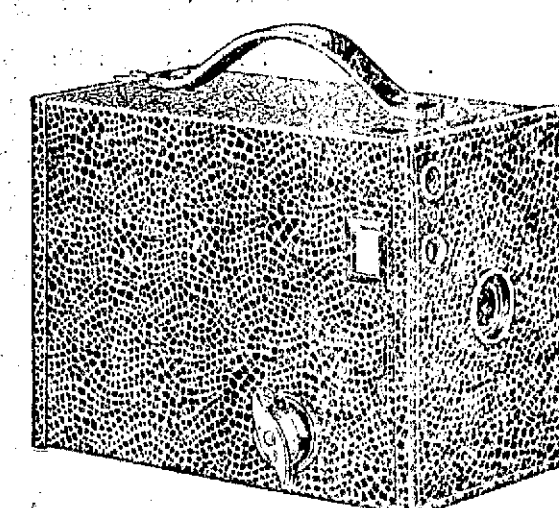

Many sufferers from piles or hemorrhoids have become despondent because they have been led to believe that their case was hopeless and that there was nothing in the world to help them.

To these people we say, "Go to your druggist and get an original box of MOAVA SUPPOSITORIES." One of these inserted into the rectum according to directions will be found to give immediate relief. They reach the source of their trouble and by their soothing, healing, antiseptic action first allay the pain and soreness and then by direct contact with the ulcers and piles cause them to heal up and disappear forever.

It is simply wonderful how speedily they act. Blessed relief often comes in one or two hours. Even in cases that have steadily resisted all known treatments, marvelous results have been obtained.

Stewart Drug Company dispenses MOAVA SUPPOSITORIES in the original box or can get it for you on short notice.

ITCHING PILES are not piles in the true sense of the word. For this condition MOAVA OINTMENT will be found all that is necessary.

To what extent the great American voter favors lawyers, as law-makers is set forth in plain figures in an article in the New Republic on "Where Statesmen Come From." In the House of Representatives there are 262 lawyers, 9 bankers, 10 farmers, 44 merchants, 13 journalists, 13 teachers, 6 doctors, 9 manufacturers, 3 dentists, 3 dealers in real estate and 2 trade union officials. There is 1 engineer, 1 army man, 1 actor, 1 minister and 1 publisher. In the Senate there are 55 lawyers, 8 farmers, 6 business men, 3 bankers, 3 journalists, 3 doctors, 3 teachers, 2 stock-breeders, 1 well-driller, 1 advertising man, 1 dentist and 1 engineer.

The honor of owning the first ton litter of pigs this year in Pennsylvania, and possibly in the United States, goes to Elias Ritter, of Snyder County, one of the five men in the country who ever owned a sow which gave birth to eight pigs weighing a ton after 180 days.

The pigs are Chester Whites, and weigh 2,106 pounds in the aggregate, averaging more than 263 pounds each. Ritter will receive a gold medal from the Keystone Ton Litter Club.

A correspondent sends us the following and asks that it be given space in this column:

Bulletin No. 354, relating to the union scale of wages and hours of labor of nearly 900,000 union members in the United States as of May 15, 1923, and showing comparison with preceding years, has recently been issued by the United States Department of Labor.

In the average for all trades taken collectively the hourly wage rate on May 15, 1923, was higher in the United States than in any preceding year, being 9 per cent higher than on May 15, 1922; 10 per cent higher than in 1917; 11 per cent higher than in 1910; and 135 per cent higher than in 1907.

In 1923 the regular hours of labor were at the same level as in 1922; 4 per cent lower than in 1917; 6 per cent lower than in 1912; 7 per cent lower than in 1910; and 8 per cent lower than in 1907.

Sixty-eight per cent of all the union members covered had a regular working week of 44 hours or less and 18 per cent had a 48 hour week; 94 per cent of the bakers had a 48 hour week or less; 97 per cent of the building trades' members had a week of 44 hours or less, as had practically all of the granite and stone workers. Among the laundry workers 95 per cent had a 48 hour week. Of the metal trade members 56 per cent had a 48 hour week and 35 per cent had a week of 44 hours or less. In the book and job printing trades 80 per cent had a working week of 44 hours or less, and 19 per cent had a 48 hour week. In the newspaper trade 53 per cent were on a 43 hour week. Twenty-nine per cent had a working week of over 44 and under 48 hours, and 18 per cent had a working week of 44 hours or less.

The average rates of wages per hour as of May 15, 1923, for the country as a whole for a few typical occupations were: Bakers, 92.1 cents; bricklayers, $1.321; building laborers, 72.5 cents; carpenters, $1.084; plasterers, $1.306; plumbers, $1.151; longshoremen, 72.2 cents; blacksmiths, 59.7 cents; machinists, 82.3 cents; newspaper compositors on day work, $1.013; and typesetting machine operators on day work, $1.031.

The average rate per hour for all building trades covered was $1.098, for the metal trades, 83.9 cents, for the newspaper printing trades, $1.047. For all trades covered in the several industries the average rate per hour was 95.2 cents. As compared with May 15, 1913, the rate of wages per hour on May 15, 1923, showed an increase of 176 per cent for bakers, 91 per cent for bricklayers, 118 per cent for building laborers; 104 per cent for carpenters; 93 per cent for plasterers; 86 per cent for plumbers; 109 per cent for longshoremen; 103 per cent for blacksmiths; 101 per cent for machinists; 78 per cent for newspaper compositors on day work; and 83 per cent for typesetting machine operators on day work.

American War Mother

MADAME SCHUMANN-HEINK, the great German musician, but greater American war mother, recently delivered a profoundly impressive address before the American Legionnaires of Cheyenne, Wyo., in which she extolled the Legion, and in a voice still suggestive of her native land, she expressed with beautiful simplicity her sentiments for this, the land of her adoption. The war mother of Schumann-Heink spoke when she said: "Just like you boys, I simply did my bit—what every mother ought to do. I love it, America, because America took me into its arms and gave me everything. I was poor when I came. America was good to me. So good to me. It made it possible for me to educate my boys. I have six boys and two girls. I have only four boys now. When the war broke out I saw my duty, my opportunity to pay back—pay a little back—for the goodness America had been to me. I could serve these people I adore and love. I was made a better woman by the war. As long as I can I will serve the soldiers—the soldiers who were, and the soldiers now. I will serve with you any time you call."

YOUTHFUL LEGION
MAN IS HONORED

Oklahoma's youngest Legionnaire is going to West Point. Not content with claiming the honor of being the state's most youthful Legion member, Frank Hosh of Cushing, Okla., has turned twenty-one, will soon enter the United States Military Academy at West Point to become a future "Looney" or maybe a general with "bookie" stars.

At fourteen, when boys are generally wont to moon over puppy love notes from little girls in pink dresses, Hosh enlisted in the United States army to fight the Huns. Throughout the war he served as a loyal "gob," but with the signing of the armistice the young belligerent sought a more exciting field than the prosaic maritime duties on board a cruiser in times of peace. Immediately after receiving his discharge he signed up for service with the army in Siberia.

With the return of the American troops from Siberia, and with no more wars on the horizon, the two-time veteran journeyed to Cushing there to begin the hardest fight of his career—the fight to get an education and support himself at the same time. He was handicapped by the years he had lost in serving his country, but he had gained much in perseverance and the power to concentrate on an objective until it was reached. It mattered not whether that objective entailed going to school through the day and studying and working far into the night, the objective was to be reached, and so religiously did he keep his eye on it that he took double class work at the Cushing high school and finished the four-year course in two years, with honors. Then in addition, to soothe that savage fighting breast of his, he took music lessons, and is considered an excellent violinist.

With his diploma under his arm the fighting Legionnaire declared he wasn't through with the battle for education, and that West Point was his next objective. Cushing Legionnaires helped him over the rough political terrain intervening between the obscure, parentless boy of Cushing, Okla., and an appointment to West Point, to the end that before many weeks the new objective was reached and the appointment to the war college was received.

Itinerant Vendors Get
Jolt in Atlantic City

Itinerant vendors who represent themselves as ex-service men are required at Atlantic City, N. J., to obtain the endorsement of the local post of the American Legion and to have been residents of the state for at least a year before permission is granted them to peddle their wares. County Clerk Blair, who advocated the ruling, stated: "There are Legion members and ex-service men enough who are entitled to anything in the way of permits to conduct business, without wasting time with fakers who are endeavoring to capitalize on sympathy for the former soldiers. Ex-service men have been victimized on all sides through the false representation of cheats who never were in the war and have no other concern than to make money at the veterans' expense."

May Prosecute Lawyers
Charging for Service

Certain San Francisco lawyers who are alleged to have been charging fees for adding former service men in making out their adjusted compensation blanks, are threatened with exposure by Maj. A. E. Graupner, chairman of the American Legion Rehabilitation Committee of California. Several complaints have come to the state department headquarters, according to Legion officials. Major Graupner has been authorized to protect the veterans' interests and to prosecute where sufficient evidence can be secured. The federal law prohibits the charging of fees for adding ex-service men in filling out their adjusted compensation blanks.

"CLEAN 'EM UP" IS
HARRY FOX'S MOTTO

Harry Fox, face of American Legion membership campaigns in South Dakota and the Middle West, is a dry cleaner by trade.

"Clean 'em up" is his motto in business and in his Legion efforts. He is the "tiniest little mop-up" going, when it comes to getting the boys to sign up for the Legion.

If you don't believe it just take a slight peep at his record. Two hundred and eighty-five paid-up members signed up in the first four months of this year. "If there's a better record it hasn't been disclosed to date."

Harry has a selling personality. The boys just can't resist his line of talk when he opens up on them and shows them the "dotted line" for their signature.

Fox is a charter member of Harold Mason post of the American Legion at Sioux Falls, S. D.

This isn't his first attempt to sell Legion memberships, either. He is one of those fellows who keeps everlastingly at it. In 1920 he first began operations on a department store scale.

That year he signed up 80 members. The next year he came under the wire with a grand total of 100. A 25 per cent increase in just Harry's idea of a good growing business. The next year he picked up his belt a little and resulted in 150 members.

Then the membership, somehow, struck a slump. Harry didn't have as much time, for it, or something. The best he could do was 125.

He was downright disappointed. He will confess it to you himself. But he was game. He merely grinned with a grin that meant business.

Harry Fox.

ness. He went out to show the rest of the gang that it was just a luke. He made up his mind to beat that record way rounder.

Did he? Well, 285 in the first four months of 1924 rather looks like it. And the year's not nearly over yet. Harry may have all of South Dakota signed up in his post before the year's over if the other fellows don't keep their eyes open.

How does he do it? It's really very simple.

He meets a prospect. He explains the work of the Legion earnestly to him. He tells him about its service to the individual and the community at large. He gets that prospect in the frame of mind where he just naturally wants to join a big organization which does things.

Mr. Veteran may not join right then. It takes a little time with some of them. But he goes away with a look on his face that shows he's got something to think about.

Does Harry quit then? Not on your life! The fun's just really getting well started.

The only time Harry sits down is when he is driving the delivery wagon for the dry-cleaning establishments of which he is part owner.

The next time he sees his man he comes right back at the old proposition.

"You would not have been outside during the war, would you?" That's the way he greets him.

And Mr. Fox follows that query up with another, equally to the point.

"Then why be on the outside now?" Harry never says quit until Mr. Veteran has got his name down on that little card, with a face beaming with a look of deep-down-in-the-soul satisfaction that tells he's mighty glad he's done it too.

He is married. He has spent most of his life in Sioux Falls. He served with the Eighth division, the Pathfinders, at Camp Freeman, California.

These implements had been supplied the prisoners, no doubt by friends and confederates on the outside, by means of those rear windows, which every grand jury for the past eight years or more has demanded that the County Commissioners have screened. The windows remain unscreened regardless, and it is beginning to be suspected in even the densest minds that the County Commissioners themselves suspect that some time or other they are going to get into jail themselves, and are leaving these much-used loop holes open for help from their friends from the outside.

How can this long continued neglect to take this ordinary precaution be explained any other way. In the language of Hashimura Togo, Wallace Irvin's Japanese schoolboy, "we ask to know."

Bonnell was committed to jail in May last by Alderman Bogen of Du Bois, and is awaiting trial on a fraudulent check trial. Barlickbaugh was sentenced on May 24th last by Judge Chase to pay $200 fine and serve ten months in jail.

HOW TO CHOOSE
ELECTRIC CLEANER

The one sure way to definitely prove an Electric Cleaner is to test it thoroughly in your own home and when you test be sure to include the Royal. Test the Royal for thorough rug cleaning—you will see how it gets at the dirt that's under and in the rug, as well as surface litter. Test it for easy operation—for mechanical efficiency—note the ease of using its attachments and their versatility. You will find that the Royal has every feature that goes to make a perfect cleaner.

This test will prove to you that there is no cleaning so perfect as Royal cleaning—no Electric Cleaner that offers so much.

You cannot be sure you have the best Electric Cleaner until you have seen the Royal. We will gladly bring you one to test.

THE IRISH DEADLOCK

The British government seems to be facing another Irish crisis.

Ulster has not yet appointed commissioners to meet with the Irish Free State commissioners to settle the boundary dispute between North and South Ireland. The commission was provided for in the Anglo-Irish treaty. The Free State stands ready to fulfill its part. The British colonial secretary declares that the good faith of Great Britain is involved. In order to avoid any imputation that the Free State was tricked, the British ministry is preparing to hurry the meeting of Parliament and enact a law putting the treaty into full effect, regardless of Ulster.

There is nothing so stubborn as a North Irishman—unless it is a South Irishman. Irish troubles are interminable, mainly because of the refusal to acknowledge the first principle of free government, which is compromise.

THE CONVICTS CHANCE

Here is an impressive letter received by a newspaper the other day, in a distant city, from a man who wants to support himself and his brother:

"For God's sake find me something to do. I don't want charity. All I want is an opportunity to make a decent living. I am highly educated and possess good business training. I can push a shovel as well as a pen.

"I want to go straight, but it is tough. The old gang says, 'Come on.' The only question is, how much longer can I hold out? My age is 30; color, white; neat-appearing; no bad habits, honest and square; record for last four years, open."

His record before that is a prison record. The ex-convict makes no secret of it. He even gives his prison number.

It is an old story, all the more poignant because of its frequent repetition. It is the story of Victor Hugo's great character, Jean Valjean—the struggle of the man with a prison record to win back his place in society and industry. Many a man does go back, keeping his past a secret. Many a man, trying to redeem himself after one serious slip, finds that his own friends tell against him. Society distrusts the sinner who has paid in prison for his sin, even while it condones the offense of many an equal sinner who has managed to stay free.

And the deepest tragedy of it is that, as in this case, the "old gang" is always there, in friendly guise, saying "Come on!" It is the everlasting invitation to the time-expired convict and to the cured dope-victim. What wonder that so many fall back into the old ways!

FORBIDDING TAXES

Florida is going to vote, in November, upon an amendment to the state constitution which provides that no inheritance tax or income tax shall ever be levied by the state. The amendment was submitted to the people by the last legislature.

This is a rather remarkable proposal, in view of the recent trend of taxation. It has been considered in most states that he direct income tax was one of the fairest of all methods of raising money for public purposes, everything considered, and that the inheritance tax was desirable to prevent the accumulation of great estates and their perpetuation in the same families. It has also been felt that an inheritance tax was needed to supplement the income tax, in order to prevent injustice in certain cases. For example, a piece of real estate which is rapidly increasing in value may be providing no income and therefore paying no income taxes, as would the same amount of capital invested in some other way. The inheritance tax helps to take care of such a situation.

Possibly the proposed amendment is inspired by the unpopularity of the federal income tax. Most of the states, however, feel that as long as the federal government imposes such tax—and it seems likely to continue doing so—they must do the same thing in self-defense. In fact, one of the arguments against the federal income tax in the past has been that it was encroaching on a taxation resource that really belonged to the state.

OUR EQUIPMENT

The Trust Department

The advantages of naming a financial institution instead of an individual as executor of your will are many.

Your trusted friend may lack the experience or ability to properly safeguard your estate.

The Bank's Trust Department is organized to handle such matters and is equipped to take care of them wisely.

An individual may not be able to give the time from his own business to look after the affairs of your estate.

Your friend named as executor may be swayed by sentiment.

The bank's position in such matters is always disinterested. Its only business is to see that your estate is managed according to the terms of the will.

When you make your will name as executor an institution which is in that business.

This bank's trust department is experienced and capable.

MONEY THAT WORKS

By FLORENCE DAVIES

Henry Ford remarked some time ago that he could only wear one suit of clothes at a time and that, do what he would, he was held down to wearing one pair of shoes on one pair of feet.

John D. Rockefeller found out that, too, when his money began to mount up almost beyond the counting, and both men came to about the same conclusion, though through different deductions.

Both men decided that since there was a limit to what they wanted the money to buy for them, the next best thing to do was to send that money out to work for them.

That, in fact, is just how Mr. Ford put it: "There is nothing to do with money but send it out to work again."

But so far most of Mr. Ford's money works to make more money. This has its beneficent side, for even a dollar that works helps to pay the wages of some man who has a living to earn. Money that builds steel mills and pays for railroads is doing a good job in the community. It is keeping men busy and giving the world more useful commodities.

But much of Mr. Rockefeller's money that works is working for beauty, and a good deal more is working for greater knowledge, and education. That is another kind of work, and a kind that the world needs sorely.

The million dollars of Mr. Rockefeller's money that went to work to rebuild Rheims cathedral will work for all who love beauty for many centuries to come, unless another stupid war again robs us of that treasure.

Money that lies idle, kept in an old shoe or in a strong box in the cupboard is just as wasteful as talents that lie idle.

But there are a good many things beside more money for money and talent to work for.

There is the sum of all knowledge in the world, and the sum of all beauty.

Is your money working for that?

When Henry Ford gets an extra million dollars he opens another factory or builds another steel mill. He puts his money to work, making more commodities, which make more money which helps honest working men to buy bread and shoes for their honest families. That's economically sound.

But if the world had to wait for these men to make enough and save enough to contribute each their mite to replace the roof of Rheims cathedral, or to support a scientist while he discovered the diphtheria germ, we'd go a long time with the cathedral rot in ruins, and a good many thousand babies would die of diphtheria before the cure for the deadly disease was discovered.

Henry Ford is right. There's nothing to do with money but to put it to work, nothing to do with talents and time and energy, but to put them to work. But what the they going to work for? That's the question. Just for more money, or for beauty and knowledge of finer ways of living? Even those of us who aren't billionaires have that question to settle now and then.

MINES AT ADRIAN, ELEANORA, AND HELVETIA CLOSE

consumers will not pay us from 50c to $1 more per ton than they can buy it elsewhere. We are, therefore, compelled to permanently close down our high cost mines.

The conditions above recited are easily understood and as we see the matter a complete shut down of this mine is the only business like method to pursue. We expect to close not only the mines completely but the town located at this mine. We are giving you this notice and explanation in order that you can move to other places where you can secure employment.

THE END OF A SUMMER FLIRTATION

TAKE FLAG POLE DOWN

The big steel flagpole, which has graced or disgraced the "diamond" corner at Second and Market streets since the boys first started across the briny deep to get old Kaiser Bill's goat, was finally removed from the landscape by Street Commissioner Graham assisted by Supt. Diehl and a crew of Penn Public Service Company linemen.

The operation, which attracted quite a number of spectators, was performed in big time. Abe Novey, who could break even the bank of Monte Carlo, if he could get at it, rendered first aid with his acetylene torch and stalled at the "diamond" to replace quickly burned the big pole off at the base of the pole.

There was no trick at all for the skilled linemen to lower it to the ground.

When "downed" the pole was placed on a truck and hauled to the Dimech property or American Legion home at the junction of South Second, Walnut, 1056, United Mine Workers of America, has been temporarily transferred to the general office of the United Mine Workers at Clearfield. He expects to be here for a month.

The big pole, contrary to general expectations, had not wasted a bit during its seven years service and will be good for many years to come.

A mushroom traffic light was installed at the "diamond" to replace the flag pole.

Mrs. Mary Shafer, wife of Jonathan Shafer, died at her home in Luthersburg yesterday morning at the advanced age of 80 years. Mrs. Shafer had been ill for a number of weeks and her end was expected by those who were near her day by day. Her husband, together with a number of grown-up children, survive her. She was the mother of Mrs. Chas. Moose, of Ridge Avenue.

Miss Ada Spencer, a daughter of James Spencer, a former resident of Bloom township, but of late years residing in Kansas City, is in this vicinity visiting with relatives and old-time friends. She reports her father as prospering in his new western home.

Rev. Dr. J. V. Adams has been granted a two-weeks vacation by the M. E. Church Board, hence there will be no regular preaching services in the Church until Sunday, August 31. Rev. Adams and family leave today on an auto trip through New York

State and also to points of interest in the northern portion of Pennsylvania.

Mr. Lilly, president of the Pennsylvania H. & L. finishing tannery plant, was a town visitor Tuesday, coming from New York on a tour of inspection.

A number of Klansmen from points down the river assembled on Tuesday evening in the Ed. Henry field below town, and held an initiatory ceremony, the drawing feature was the performing of a marriage ceremony for a young couple. There was quite a crowd from this place present, most of whom were merely spectators. Three or four ministers from the several sections of the county were there and addressed the assemblage.

A family party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Leathers, Nantuxon on Tuesday evening. A number of guests were present who enjoyed the evening hour hugely, as well as the sumptuous luncheon which was served to them before their departure for their homes.

Every day it is brought to mind forcibly that State Street is entirely too narrow to accommodate the heavy automobile traffic which is continually passing through town. Tourists by the hundred travel the street every day and sometimes it huddles them to get by and on their way on account of the many cars parked along the curb, some of them standing at one point many hours in the day before being moved to other sections. No objection can be made to the parking of cars on State Street, for an hour or two at a time, but when permitted to stand in one spot all day long, then it is all wrong and not giving others a chance. Some men drive to their place of business early in the morning, park the car, and there it remains until noontime. After lunch the same procedure is followed day in and week out. Borough ordinance does not permit it, then why is the law not enforced once in a while.

James Mineval and wife drove over to DuBois yesterday and called on friends. It was Jim's first trip over the new highway, which did not take him past the Old Wild Goose.

mobile, went direct to the Lockport bank, and entering the place with drawn guns ordered "every one hands up and keep 'em there."

Five employees and the President were herded into a corner by two of the bandits, while the others swept all money in sight into satchels.

"Better lock that mob into the vault for safe-keeping," shouted the leader of the gang as they strode toward the door.

The two who were menacing the President and the employees, then ordered them to the rear shoved the six into the vault and slammed the door, throwing the bolts.

President Carl Mulenford was the first to be pushed into the vault. Cashiers and tellers followed. The imprisoned included one woman.

The six were locked into the vault shortly after 11:30 and at 1:30 were still prisoners there.

Keep your gasoline tank well filled

How often have your sympathies gone out to some stranded motorist who, through forgetfulness or misplaced confidence in his gauge, has run out of gasoline? Maybe it has even happened to you.

"Keep your tank well filled," is the sound advice of the old-timer. It costs no more to run on a full tank than on one almost empty. Gives the car better balance too. Many motorists establish the pound-wise rule never to let the gasoline tank become less than half-empty.

A well-filled tank is of double importance in cars equipped with gravity feed systems. It assures the fluid reaching the carburetor at all times—a vital point on which many a driver who has tried to climb steep hills with a near-empty tank can testify.

It's easy to keep your tank filled without ever having to change your motor's diet, when your choice is Atlantic. For you can be sure there's always an Atlantic pump just ahead or just around the corner. And the Atlantic dealer is just as willing to serve you when the gauge says "half-full" as when it says "empty."

INDIANA GAZETTE PAYS TRIBUTE TO GEORGE D. LANICH

George D. Lanich, vice president of the Brown Boot Shop Corporation, active worker in the Merchants' Auxiliary of the Indiana, Pa., Chamber of Commerce, well-known member of the Masonic Fraternity and a prominent resident of Indiana for a number of years, passed away at the family residence on Church street at twelve-fifteen o'clock Saturday morning. He became ill Saturday morning at nine o'clock, following which he sustained a slight stroke. His condition was quite serious during the day and evening, but towards the hour of mid-night he became easier and talked with his wife and attendant nurse. Shortly after the mid-night hour he suffered a relapse, death coming with in a few minutes.

The deceased had not been in good health for several months, but his family and friends were not unduly alarmed, not thinking that his condition was serious, so that word of his sudden death came as a profound shock and a deep sense of personal loss to a host of personal associates and acquaintances.

George D. Lanich was born and raised in Clearfield, being a member of one of the well-known families of that section. Following his early education he entered the shoe business, being connected with the Brown family home. Shop almost from its inception. Twelve years ago he came to Indianapolis as manager of the corporation store here. In the reorganization process some months ago he became vice-president of the organization. He was possessed of rather a retiring disposition, but was ever at the call of his friends and associates in business and personal affairs. He took an active interest in the affairs of the borough, devoting special work to the upbuilding of the Chamber of Commerce organization. He was a shrewd business man, thoughtful of the interests, hopes and ambitions of those in his employ, a loving husband and father and a good friend to any with whom he came in contact. He was regarded as one of the substantial citizens of the community and his absence from the family and public life of the Borough will be sincerely regretted.

The deceased was a Protestant in religious affiliation and had been a long-time and consistent member of the Presbyterian Church. He was also a member of Indiana Lodge, No. 313, Free and Accepted Masons and of the Kiwanis Club. Both of Mr. Lanich's parents are dead. He leaves his widow, Mrs. Norah Lanich and three children, the youngest of whom is but five weeks old; his step-father, C. H. Halford, and these brothers and sisters: Mrs. Thomas Watmough, of Akron, Ohio; Leslie, of Salamanca, N. Y.; Raymond, of Clearfield and Jean, Henrietta and Margaret, all at the family home on Church street.

Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock, by the pastor, the Rev. Frederick W. Hilt, D. D., minister of the First Presbyterian Church, ritualistic services by the Masonic Fraternity will precede the interment in the Massoleum in Greenwood Cemetery. (Indiana Gazette.)

Baldheads, Rejoice!
Successful experiments have been made in a new method for planting hair upon bald heads. It has been found that baldness never affects certain parts of the back of the head. Long thin strips of hair-covered skin cut from these parts may be grafted upon the bald area to form turrows. These fertile parts, when brushed, entirely cover the bald lines.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Sick Room Hint.
When patient's mouth becomes dry and parched during the night, a piece of orange held in the mouth from time to time will quench thirst. The orange should be cut into small pieces and put within easy reach of the invalid. It will be easier to handle than a glass of water and is more refreshing.

Self-Control Requisite
The ability to "get along" with other people is an important essential to success. The individual is never as important as the organization. Pleasant disposition is "oil for the machinery." Unpleasantness is sand in the gears. Practice self-control.—Grit.

Notification Committee of 63, and of informing President Coolidge of his very unanimous nomination.

The President will then deliver his address of acceptance. A comprehensive document containing approximately 6,600 words and dealing with every phase of America's foreign and domestic problems, it will take him about an hour to complete its reading.

Upon this acceptance speech the Republican campaign will be waged even more so than upon the platform adopted at Cleveland.

Its preparation has consumed nearly a month, and it represents the composite thought of scores of prominent Republicans from every section of the country, who have lent their advice and counsel.

The President and Mrs. Coolidge entertained the Notification Committee, composed of one representative of each state and territory, at luncheon today.

This affair was the only social function held in connection with the Notification ceremonies.

his employees could be sure of the compensation to which they are entitled when accidents occur.

Many states provide compulsory workmen's insurance in the state insurance fund, only the Governor explained, but Pennsylvania does not make this restriction.

"When this administration took office," he continued "there were still 80,000 employees in Pennsylvania who were not insured."

"Most of these uninsured were in small employer's plants. Many of them were financially irresponsible."

"For the purpose of securing equal justice to all workers the Pennsylvania law created a state workmen's insurance fund, but without barring out the private companies."

"I am clearly of the opinion, therefore, that in the interest of those whom the state workmen's fund was inaugurated to protect the ten per cent differential should be maintained."

Girl He Saved Is Now Frying His Eggs And Darning His Socks

Philadelphia, Aug. 14 (INS)—A pretty romance had its culmination here when Irwin W. Ayres, of North Carolina, after a month of trial and difficulties, claimed as his bride the girl whose life he had claimed from the waters of New London Harbor, Conn.

The girl is seventeen-year-old Mary Dennison and it all started July 4th when Irwin steamed into New London Harbor in the good yacht, "Polly" whose skipper he is. Hearing a call for help he looked and saw a young girl, who had fallen from a boat, gamely struggling to keep afloat.

He jumped in and brought her safely back to the yacht. The girl, of course, was Mary and it didn't take Irwin long to discover she was the only girl for him. Two days later Mary thought so too and they started for the altar to get married.

Fodder Hung in Trees.
In Castlere a novel method of putting fodder away for winter use is in vogue. The chief industry of the people is raising fine wool and in making this into fabric which have carried the name of the country all over the world. As in winter supplies of hay are hung among the branches of trees, which are easily reached by the horses.

SUNDAY NIGHT UNION MEETING
Which will be held in the Presbyterian Church. And with ever pastor of the combining Churches having served in the preaching duty of the last five meetings, it remains for a surprise to be sprung on the Clearfield community in the person of the minister that is to preach Sunday night, August 17. Last Sunday, before the present arrangement had been effected, the notice that a possible surprise would be given, stirred up any amount of guessing which will be now more extensively indulged in. No one would imagine the plan now fixed and few could name the preacher. But the entire schedule is fully made up.

In as much as the preacher to be is not a resident of Clearfield, it will be perfectly proper to name him in the Saturday notices. Because of the marked increase of interest in meetings, this notice will arouse both curiosity and desire. At any rate, an unusually strong program is assured for next Sunday night.

New Castle—The old-timers of Lawrence county are all resting today after their eighteenth annual outing at Cascade Park celebrating Lawrence county's Old Timer's Day. A grand picnic followed by "hiders," who played races for the lancers and other figure dances of years ago.

Lloydsville—The decomposed body of Mrs. Marie Burke 74, who had lived alone near here for years was found yesterday by her son Albert. Mrs. Burke had not been seen since August 8. Neighbors became apprehensive notified Burke who found his mother's body under the mattress on her bed, the Coroner's office reported.

Jehonstown—Mayor Louis Franke has instructed City Solicitor T. K. Saylor to file protest with the Public Service Commission against the proposed increase in rates by the Johnstown Traction Company. The fare will be increased from 7 to 10 cents beginning next month, the Company announced.

Uniontown—The mine explosion at Gates, Pa. when ten miners were killed a few weeks ago was held an accident by a Coroner's jury last night. The jury verdict was that the men were killed by "an explosion due to the accidental ignition or explosives used by shot firers, starting a fire which ignited coal dust."

Altoona—John O. Houts, 38, a railroad shopman is in a hospital here today suffering from a fractured skull he was injured last Monday in an automobile accident. Last night he applied at the hospital for treatment and physicians found Houts' skull fractured. His condition is favorable.

Washington—Reading was selected as the place for the 1926 convention by the delegates of the Retail Merchants Association of Pennsylvania at the yesterday afternoon session of the 28th annual meeting, held here.

Pittsburg—William Winn, 55, fell dead from heart disease yesterday afternoon while Jack Coogan, the young movie star was entertaining his boy and girl admirers on Flagstar Hill in Schenley Park. Winn had brought Miss Marie McElroy, 13, to see the diminutive star when he dropped dead beside her.

Kittanning—Thurman Gibson, is in his cell at the Armstrong County Jail here again today after he beat Deputy Sheriff Ben Armstrong into semi-unconsciousness with a brass nozzle, and escaped. He was captured within two hours after his break for freedom.

Philadelphia, Aug. 14 (INS).—Seventeen year old Catherine Ives is believed to have suffered a broken back last night when the automobile in which she was riding turned turtle after a collision with another car at Torresdale, a suburb. Four other occupants of the cars were treated for cuts and bruises.

Harrisburg—Thelma Grossman, little passenger in the ambulance which ran down Mrs. Miles Baumgardner and killed the baby she was carrying, died at the Harrisburg hospital last night. Thelma was severely burned by a gas explosion in her home.

Domestic Storm Warning.
The following pleasant recipe for being happy, though married, was given by an old village woman to her daughter, who was married recently: "Do as you father and I did, my dear. When he comes home feeling contrary, let him wear his hat on the back of his head, and that were a sign. And then I never said a word. And whenever I felt cross or provoked, I threw my shawl over my left shoulder, and then he never dared say a word."

80th Division

ation, Brigadier General Lloyd M. Brett, U. S. A. Retired, former commander of the 160th Infantry Brigade, 80th Division and the present Commander-in-Chief of the Veterans of the Foreign Wars of the United States, Major General C. S. Farnsworth, Brigadier General G. H. Jamerson, Col. Chas. Keller, Col. Frank Cochran, Commander of the Third Corps Area and former Commander of the 19th Infantry Regiment, Col. Brian H. Wells, Col. A. E. Hunt, Brigadier General G. G. Helzer, Col. Chas. D. Heron and many others.

The 80th Division was composed of drafted men originally from the States of Pennsylvania, Virginia and West Virginia for a large part. It trained at Camp Lee, Virginia, and sailed for overseas in May, 1918, immediately being sent into active service with the British Army on the Arras Front. It was later engaged in the St. Mihiel Offensive and served throughout the Meuse-Argonne Offensive with special distinction, being the only division in the American Expeditionary Forces, called upon for duty three times in this offensive. Its 153rd Field Artillery Brigade composed of West Virginia Troops, served unrelieved throughout the Argonne Offensive, supporting three other divisions in addition to the 80th, and was one of the very few National Artillery units which completed its training in time to actively engage in line of duty. The 80th Division had 6,172 casualties and the replacements who filled up its ranks came from practically every State in the Union.

The 80th Division Veterans Association was formed in France in March, 1919, and has maintained a permanent National Headquarters in Pittsburgh since August 1919, assisting thousands of the men of the division in their problems of adjusting themselves once more to civil life, and keeping liaison with their comrades of "The Great Adventure."

PAN-AMERICAN MARIMBA BAND

Native Guatemalan Musicians with Record of Exceptional Metropolitan Triumphs

A novelty in the musical entertainment line will be the appearance at Chautauqua of the Pan-American Marimba Band, an organization of Guatemalan musicians who perform with great skill and artistry on their native instrument.

The Pan-American Marimba Band was organized and brought to this country from Guatemala by Mr. M. N. Mato. The American House, Boston, was the first engagement filled by this band. The success of the organization in Boston was so great that the band was recalled and was held for five consecutive seasons. The band was next engaged to play at the United States Hotel Saratoga Springs, N. Y., where it remained for two seasons. The following season was spent at the Shelburne Hotel, Atlantic City. The Pan-American Band has also appeared with great success on several of their popular numbers have been recorded by the Columbia Phonograph Company.

The totally different, fascinating and quaint music of the Marimba originated in Central America among the ancient Indian Tribes. The first Marimbas were built and used long before the arrival of the Spaniards. The Indians built their instruments in a very primitive manner using dry gourds as resonators and a single keyboard of rosewood. Although the Marimba was first built in Central America, exact reproductions of the original instruments may be found today among the savages of South Africa. It has developed into a wonderful instrument since those ancient days and produces such rare music that the Marimba Band has been in constant demand in Eastern Theatres and musical centers since its first phenomenal success in Boston. The Swarthmore Chautauqua management feels particularly fortunate in having secured this remarkable organization for the opening number of the weeks' program.

GEARHARTVILLE PAIR

WEDDED 64 YEARS

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Nicholson of Gearhartville, motored to Winborne, Tuesday, Aug. 12th to the home of their granddaughter, Mrs. John Phoenix and celebrated their sixty-fourth wedding anniversary.

The day was greatly enjoyed as they met quite a number of old friends and neighbors.

Mr. and Mrs. Nicholson are both quite active considering their advanced age. The former was 86 on June 4th and the latter 84 on May 19th.

The occasion also marked the ninth anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Phoenix.

Mrs. Phoenix served a well prepared dinner, which was enjoyed by all. At a seasonable hour, all departed, wishing both couples many more such happy occasions.

MAN RESPONSIBLE FOR FOREST FIRES IN EVERY INSTANCE

Harrisburg, Aug. 14, (INS)—

Man is responsible for practically all the forest fires that occur in Pennsylvania, a bulletin issued by the Department of Forest and Waters shows.

During the past six years only 49 forest fires were caused by lightning out of the total of 13,759 fires. Railroads were responsible for 34 per cent of the fires during the last six years.

and caused almost 40 per cent of the 1923 fires.

Transients, which means campers, hunters and fishermen, are responsible for almost one-fifth of the total number. While there are still a considerable number of fires the cause of which is unknown, yet the percentage of unknown fires has been decreasing rapidly during the last two years due to the extension of the forest fire protective system and the development of a more efficient fire-fighting organization.

Buttermilk and Cream—S'mole Remedies Best—Keeps Face, Hands, and Arms in Exquisite Condition—Soft, Smooth and Beautiful

The old time application of Buttermilk and Cream to whiten and preserve the skin and remove harsh little wrinkles and ugly sallowness is grandmother's recipe and women throughout the country are again using it to ensure a beautiful complexion and snow-white hands and arms. Buttermilk, however, is not always obtainable, but a specialist has at last perfected a method of concentrating buttermilk and combining it with a perfect cream, which you can buy in small quantities ready to use at any first class drug store by simply asking for "Howard's Buttermilk Cream."

There is no secret about it nor is there any doubt about the result—it's just a common ordinary buttermilk in the form of a wonderful cream. That's all. Howard's Buttermilk Cream gently massaged with the finger tips around the corners of the eyes and mouth. To get the best, first be sure to follow the simple directions. Druggists guarantee a noticeable improvement after the first application or they will refund the money.
